CLEVELAND TO GO ON 'NORMAL RELIEF' DEC. 15

$1,050,000 Fund to Restore Food Orders for 12,000, Burton Announces.

MORE WPA JOBS OKED

President Approves $1,248,991 in Works Projects as Means to Ease Situation.

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND — Mayor Harold H. Burton announced today that "normal relief will be restored in Cleveland" Dec. 15.

The announcement meant restoration of food orders to 8,000 single persons and 4,000 childless couples whom the mayor had cut off direct relief and restoration of a one-third reduction in regular food orders to 12,000 family cases.

The mayor said that it would not be necessary to reduce city services or to reduce salaries of city employes.

In a formal statement Burton said:

"Based upon the action of the state on Dec. 6, approving issuance of delinquent tax notes, Cleveland will make as much as possible of these bonds available now. We believe the maximum amount upon which the city can realize cash at this time is $1,050,000.

"To make this available for relief, the sinking fund of the city is planning to purchase short-term notes of the city in that amount, as soon as they are authorized by the city council. We hope to complete that transaction today or tomorrow.

These notes could not have been authorized by the council before receipt of the recently revised certificates issued by the state, nor could they be purchased by the sinking fund until that fund had completed the sale of certain longer-term investments on hand.

The mayor said that the relief deficit to Dec. 9 was $859,200 and that $432,000 was needed to complete the year on the basis of restored relief service.

He said that the total needed was $1,301,200 and that therefore there would be a 1940 relief deficit of $251,200.

The mayor said that this deficit includes recent extensions of utility services to relief clients such as rents, gas, light and water.

"On this basis, and relying upon the increased WPA program, the city will restore before the end of this week its regular food issues and will restore to the relief roles those who are in need of relief but have been deprived of it solely by lack of funds."

The mayor said "city welfare director, Fred W. Ramsey, has said that if the program goes through,

German Villagers Along Sauer River Told to Flee.

BRUSSELS —(AP)— The Belga agency said today that Luxembourg frontier advices reported German villagers along the Sauer river had received orders to leave the zone.

The villages to be emptied, these reports said, are just across the river from the Luxembourg city of Wasserbillig, on the eastern border of Luxembourg north of the junction of the Luxembourg, German and French frontiers.

German troop movements in this area were described as more frequent in two directions, toward the German city of Trier, northeast of Wasserbillig, and Echternach, Luxembourg border city northwest of Wasserbillig.

Help for Finland

While Americans all over the country were contributing to the Finnish Relief Fund, Inc., native Finlanders, who are American by adoption, were doing their utmost for the aid of their homeland. Shown here are workers at the headquarters of the Loyal Finns of New York City, where they are packing clothing and supplies to be shipped to their homeland. Many organizations are co-operating in the national drive for money and supplies for the embattled country.

CITY FINN FUND SOARS TO $40

More Contributions Roll in to Help With Relief; U. S. Campaign Set Up.

As American "sympathy contributions" for Finland began pouring into the national office of the Finnish Relief Fund, in New York City, Mansfield sympathizers with the beleaguered little country across the Atlantic continued to "say it with dollars," and at noon today $27.50 more had been contributed, bringing the total to date to $40.

Contributions ranged from 50 cents to $10, but with every gift, there was an expression of sympathy for Finland and indignation against Russia.

The Mansfield fund is being collected by the News-Journal, and got under way Saturday with $12.50 contributed the first day. Newspapers all over the United States are lending their facilities to collecting a fund which will pay for food, clothing and medical supplies which are being rushed to Finland.

In New York City today, the national set-up was being completed and volunteer help recruited for Ex-President Herbert Hoover, chairman of the drive. Honorary chairman is Hjalmar J. Procope, Finnish ambasador to the United States. Officers are Edgar Richard, chairman of the Belgium American Educational Foundation, who has been named president of the Fund; Lewis L. ANNUAL RUSH ON AT SANTA CLAUS

Indiana Town Jammed as Visitors Descend on Postoffice.

SANTA CLAUS, Ind.—(U.P.)—The annual Christmas rush was in full swing today.

More than 1,000 persons, young and old, crowded into the village, normally of less than 100 population, to mail letters and packages at the post office and obtain the Santa Claus postmark. The tiny office, usually a comparatively easy job for one man, went on a 24-hour shift with several special workers.

Centers of attraction for children were a "wishing well" toy village and a 20-ton statue of Santa Claus erected in the public square by promoters.

TAKES BODY TO GARAGE

Youth Takes Poison After Slaying; His Parents Find Girl Laying in Auto.

(By United Press)

CHARLES CITY, Ia.—A 14-year-old girl was clubbed to death today by her 17-year-old high school boy friend.

The victim was Dorothy Carter, president of the freshman class at Colwell, Ia., high school. Her assailant, Warren Blewett, president of the senior class, attempted to commit suicide by taking strychnine but will recover, authorities said.

Sheriff B. F. Atherton of Floyd county said Blewett admitted the slaying but gave no motive.

The slaying occurred on a county highway.

Blewett said that he and Miss Carter had attended a moving picture show in Charles City and were returning home when he stopped the car on the pretense of having a flat tire.

He distracted the girls' attention for a moment by telling her there was a fire at a nearby farm. While her head was turned, he picked up his loaded shotgun which was in the front seat.

Blewett said he fired one shot at the girl and it struck her in the back of the neck but did not cause a serious wound.

The girl got out of the car and struggled with her assailant. He struck her with the shotgun, shattering the stock and breaking her neck.

Blewett said that when he thought another car was approaching so he rolled the girl's body into a ditch. He returned a short time later, placed the body in his car and drove it into the garage on his parents' farm.

He went to his room and consumed strychnine. His parents heard his moans, called authorities and then discovered the girl's body in the car.

Blewett was brought to a Charles City hospital and placed under guard.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Blewett. The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. High Carter. The families lived on farms about four miles apart.

NOT BAD YET

Mercury Drops But Weather's Still Far From Cold.

It wasn't exactly balmy today, but Mansfield still had weather more like spring than winter and other sections of the country continued to bask in mild temperatures.

With the average temperature over the week-end more than 12 degrees above normal, the mercury dropped to 30, two degrees below freezing this morning, and it was not much higher at noon.

There's no really cold weather in sight, according to the weatherman, who said it will be cloudy and warmer Tuesday with rain probable.

In the nation's customary "ice boxes" in Minnesota and Montana, flowers bloomed and sportsmen played tennis and baseball in the warmest December weather in years.

Time to Pause---Gas Taxes Hit Billion

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Ohio motorists and gasoline station operators were urged today by J. L. Marsh, executive secretary of the Petroleum Industry committee of Ohio, to pause for a "breathless moment" at 11 a. m. next Friday.

It is estimated by the committee that at that hour state and federal gas tax collections throughout the nation will reach the billion-dollar mark for 1939.

"Having taken a week's wages from most of the motorists, the reaching of the billion-dollar mark may well take their breath away for a moment," said Marsh. "A billion dollars is a lot of money, especially when paid chiefly by motorists with modest incomes."

Marsh, asserting that gas taxes will exceed a billion dollars this year for the first time in history, said both state and federal governments should "take immediate steps to restore gas tax rates to reasonable levels." He said the federal government should withdraw and leave this field of revenue entirely to the states.

Former Mansfield Pastor Mentioned for O. S. U. Post

Dr. Tulloss, Now Wittenberg President, Considered As Possible Successor to Rightmire.

Dr. Rees E. Tulloss, a former Mansfield pastor and now president of Wittenberg college at Springfield, is being considered for the presidency of Ohio State university, dispatches from Columbus said today.

Three of the university's seven trustees were reported favorable to Dr. Tulloss, who was pastor of the First Lutheran church in Mansfield from 1918 to 1920. He left here to become head of Wittenberg college.

When informed that he was being considered for the Ohio State presidency, Dr. Tulloss said: "It's a total surprise to me. I'm very happy at Wittenberg and hadn't considered leaving."

Dr. Tulloss.

He said he had talked with none of the university trustees. The board of trustees was to meet today to consider applicants for the position left vacant by the retirement of Dr. George W. Rightmire.

Admits Errors and 'Doubtful' Policies of U. S. Labor Board

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Dr. William M. Leiserson, member of the national labor relations board, told the house NLRB investigation today that the board was aware of "many deficiencies in operations, of troublesome mistakes, doubtful policies, and weaknesses in organization and personnel."

Leiserson, President Roosevelt's latest appointee to the board, started off the committee's inquiry by placing in the record a 22-page statement, outlining the board's work and defending its record.

He summarized the statement for the committee after a brief dispute with Rep. Howard W. Smith, D., Va., chairman of the house NLRB committee.

Leiserson offered a lengthy review of the philosophy behind the Wagner labor act and other New Deal legislation.

Later the committee made public a memorandum from Leiserson calling for dismissal of NLRB Secretary Nathan Witt and accusing Witt's office of procedural irregularities which "smelled."

Committee Counsel Edmund M. Toland distributed photostatic copies of Leiserson's memorandum while Leiserson was summarizing a prepared statement defending the NLRB's record but admitting some shortcomings.

The Leiserson memorandum dealt with a board case concerning the Todd-Johnson dry docks.

"I do not recall agreeing to any such decision as this," Leiserson said in a memorandum to Chairman J. Warren Madden and Member Edwin S. Smith on July 24, 1939.

"If I authorized the preparation of this majority opinion, the facts reported orally were diferent from the facts here recorded.

"I do not want to participate in this case at all. It is too old, and there are the usual irregularities in procedure characteristics of the secretary's office."

Madden asked Leiserson to amplify his charge of "usual irregularities" and Leiserson replied that

$500 YULE GIFT

Kiwanis Turns Sum Over to Friendly House.

It will take a big stocking to hold all of the Christmas gifts that Friendly House will receive from the Kiwanis club this year. Aid to the settlement house is one of the year-round projects of the service club.

Kiwanians have just contributed $500 to the Friendly House for the purchase of a sewing machine, a library table, 50 folding chairs, a motion picture projector, kitchen equipment, a lathe, a scroll saw and other wood working tools which the boys at the settlement house have long wanted.

The Kiwanians also contributed $25 to the Salvation Army building drive and $5 to the Volunteers of America for that organization's dinner for the "forgotten man."

Members of the club will hear a travel talk at their regular meeting Thursday noon at the Leland hotel when Justin Hartman, theological student at Oberlin college, talks on "Bicycling Through Europe." Dr. J. Herbert West is program chairman this week.

BURGLAR LOOTS CHURCH OFFICE OF $77, CHECKS

Irreverent Culprit Fails to Get Collection Money, But Finds Other Cash.

A burglar with little respect for the Ten Commandments, last night broke into the First Methodist church and looted the office of $77 and several checks.

Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor reported the theft to police this morning after he arrived at the church and found the office ransacked and the funds missing.

The money taken from a filing cabinet included $10 of yesterday's Sunday school collection and $17 in church funds which had been received during the week.

Included in the loot was $50 of private funds belonging to the church secretary, Mrs. S. R. Baird, 581 Crescent road, Rev. Corwin reported.

The pastor said yesterday's morning and evening church collections had been placed in a bank night vault.

Entrance was gained through a rear window, officers said. They said the burglar apparently forced the sash open with a heavy bar which he used to open the office door and the locked filing cabinet.

Two other thefts were reported to police over the week-end.

S. J. Shadel, 587 South Diamond street, reported the theft of a spare tire and wheel from his automobile, parked on West Fifth street Saturday night, and L. Wolf, 5 Dunbilt court, said a $5 kit of tools was taken from his car, parked on Orange street.

County, City Go Into Huddle Today On Grade Project

County commissioners were expected to have a reply ready for the state today on the route 30-N grade separation project following a conference this afternoon with city officials.

The commissioners, who indicated they were satisfied with the state's request for $40,000 from them for the half-million dollar project, were to confer with Mayor Claude M. Hunter and council's street and finance committees at 2:30 p. m.

Commissioners previously refused to contribute $50,000 to the project under a two-year payment plan, and the state revised the setup, slashing $10,000 from the county's share and adding $8,500 to the city's portion.

Mayor Hunter has recommended the city accept the revised plan, but the final decision will rest with council which is expected to be called into special session to act on it. The city's share of the cost under the new plan is approximately $30,000.

Asks Russia to Reply Within 24 Hours to Bid

Request Telegraphed To Moscow After Finnish Delegate Appeals For All 'Practical Support Possible' To Halt Invasion By Russians

(By Associated Press)

GENEVA—The League of Nations assembly today asked Soviet Russia to accept league mediation in the Russian-Finnish conflict. It requested a reply within 24 hours.

The request was telegraphed to Moscow following an appeal from Finland's delegate, Rudolf Holsti, for "all practical support possible" against Russia.

A committee considering the Finnish appeal unanimously adopted a proposal by Sweden that Russia be asked to accept mediation.

British Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs R. A. Butler said the time limit of 24 hours should be set for reply.

"We must have no illusions on the outcome," Butler told the committee which continued its work in belief that Russia would refuse.

The league's action came after a stirring appeal to the league assembly by Rudolf Holsti, Finnish representative, for "all practical support" against Soviet Russia.

"We cannot protect the Finnish people against Russian aggression, bullets, hand grenades and gas with international resolutions," he declared.

(Finnish charges that Russians have used gas in the invasion of Finland have been denied officially in Moscow.)

The white-haired Holsti, former Finnish foreign minister and former Stanford university professor, was applauded heavily by almost all the delegates of 40 nations when he rose to speak.

Karl J. Hambro, of Norway, newly elected president of the assembly, warned delegates today they must do their utmost to halt the Russian-Finnish war.

The new president, however, personally held little hope that the Russians would listen to any appeal to take their troops out of Finland.

A gesture in that direction was the first step, delegates said, to be taken before acting on the Finnish appeal to condemn Russia as an aggressor.

"It is for us to act in order that little people in distress will not be deceived," Hambro said.

As the council session opened Secretary-General Joseph A. C. Avenol issued a list of 14 documents submitted by the Finns which included the notes between Finland and Russia and a report

FIGHTING: Reds Send Asiatic Tribesmen Against Nervy Finns

(By International News Service)

HELSINKI—Reinforced by rugged mid-Asiatic tribesmen from the wild Russian steppes, Soviet troops launched a general offensive against Finland in all the battle areas today.

The tribesmen were sent into action against the Finns because they are better able than regular Soviet troops to withstand the intense cold in Finland's arctic regions.

In addition, reports from Stockholm charged that the Russians were using Polish prisoners as advance guards and shields, sending both men and women captives ahead of the regular army to explode mines at the risk of their own lives and clear the way for mechanized troops in their rear.

The Russians used motorized units, tanks and airplanes in the renewed onslaught, military headquarters said, attacking all along Finland's eastern border from Petsamo in the far north to the Karelian isthmus in the south.

Before the new offensive began, it was announced that Finnish troops had counter-attacked north of Lake Ladoga, recapturing the strategic town of Suomisalmi which lies on the path of Russia's reported route to Uleaborg on the Gulf of Bothnia in a campaign to cut Finland in two.

Prior to the new advance, there had been no aerial activity during the morning due to heavy fog and temperatures as

TOLL GROWS: Britain Reveals Loss of Minesweeper, 5 Ships

BULLETIN

COPENHAGEN—(INS)—Grave fears were felt today for the safety of 185 passengers, many of them Polish refugees, aboard the 1,181-ton steamer Estonia, which left Tallinn on Saturday and has not been heard from since. The vessel was due at Stockholm at noon yesterday.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Great Britain disclosed new reverses in sea warfare today, including the loss of a mine sweeper and five merchant ships. The minesweeper was the Ray of Hope, which officials said was sunk by a mine. She was the fifth British minesweeper sent to the bottom. The steamer Willowpool of 4,815 tons struck a mine and sank while 36 of her crew were rescued.

Four merchant ships, an official announcement said, were long overdue and must be considered lost. They were the:

Ashlea, 4,222 tons
Newton Beech, 4,651 tons
Trevanion, 5,299 tons
Huntsman, 8,196 tons

The four minesweepers previously sunk with a loss of 50 lives were the Northern Rover, Mastiff, Aragonite and Washington, part of a fleet of small vessels impressed into service to supplement the British fleet.

Four of the Ray of Hope's crew were killed, and five were missing.

Meanwhile, British troops were disclosed to have come to grips with Germans on the French front.

Movement of the Tommies into action with the enemy occurred shortly before King George VI visited observation posts and inspected great Maginot line fortresses. The monarch returned from the

Two Sides To Every Story

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A week or two ago a set-aside wife, wrote me she was "sitting pretty" had her home, her own car, and was very comfortable on the pieces of property her husband left her before wandering down the primrose path with a siren.

The siren had youth when she broke up the home of this couple married nearly twenty-five years. The younger woman was employed in an office where the captivated husband was an official. The siren got another job, bent on proving to the world she was not after the charmed husband's money.

For some reason or other, the captive husband began to go steadily downhill. In the firm he dropped continually to a lower rung of the ladder. Of the triangle, the only one who prospered was the first wife. And the siren not only earns the bacon but cooks it after she brings it home.

This may be a detached incident, but dozens of superseded wives "sitting pretty" have written to this column saying they are doing very well, thank you; much better than these second marriages to younger women.

No sensible person attempts to pontificate about love. Specialists who have spent their lives trying to unravel the web that entangles say it's an ecstatic madness and let it go at that. But there is always a lucid interval before the ecstatic madness really gets its strangle-hold, and that's the time to think and think hard about whether the breaking up of a home isn't going to leave you out on a limb.

Please don't think I am cynical or brutally realistic. But there are certain cold facts which should be taken into consideration by any girl who is spreading her net for a "married Romeo." That description isn't mine. It come in a letter from California where another lady is "sitting pretty."

Here are a few for-and-againsts. A woman of 26 writes: "Yes, I married a man who got his divorce on my account. His selfish wife and children played him for a meal ticket. We've been married two years and are happy. I don't mind working.'"

Another young woman, who made the same sort of a marriage to an older man, who divorced his wife because he fell in love with her, writes: "Tom and I have been married six years. We both work hard. But a good deal of his money goes to support minor children by his first marriage. My children often have to go without to pay these expenses. We're happy, but I wish things were different."

The other side of the medal relates: "I suppose I'm a bad Christian because I can't help enjoying the plight of my former husband and his second wife. They quarrel and scrap as we never did. He lost caste because, before our divorce, he stood high in the church. And many of the people who had insurance with his office withdrew it."

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, December 12.

A rather happy state of affairs is read from the predominant lunar aspects. The major interests will be centered about the home—domestic, social or affectional. It would be well to shun hasty moves or decisions, thus averting annoying situations. Private correspondence should be handled with discretion. Likewise, be careful not to indulge in extravagance or any form of excess.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a happy year rather than one of great accomplishment. The accent seems to be on social, domestic and emotional interests. Be prudent with writings and also curb tendencies to over-expenditure in pursuit of pleasure.

A child born on this day may be lively, genial, gracious and devoted to home interests. It should enjoy a happy life.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

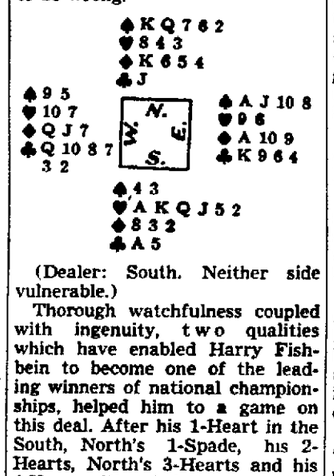
"The Authority on Authorities"

ALL GUESSES WRONG

There are no more interesting finishes to the play of a hand than those in which the declarer gives the defenders an option among several lines of play, any of them being futile from their standpoint. It is captivating to be either the declarer at such a time, or a kibitzer who notices the set of guesses he has put up to them, any one of which would be certain to be wrong.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

Thorough watchfulness coupled with ingenuity, two qualities which have enabled Harry Fishbein to become one of the leading winners of national championships, helped him to a game on this deal. After his 1-Heart in the South, North's 1-Spade, his 2-Hearts, North's 3-Hearts and his 4-Hearts, West led the spade 9 to the K and A. The heart 9 was returned and he went to work.

Winning with the heart A, he cashed the Club A, ruffed the club 5, then ran his other five hearts, watching the discards, while keeping two spades and two diamonds in dummy. Since West gave a high-low in clubs, East tossed away the club K, so West held to the club Q and three diamonds, though he should have held two clubs and two diamonds. Prior to the last trump, East held the spade J-10, diamond A-10 and club 9.

If on the last heart East discarded his club, South could play to the spade Q, give East the spade J and diamond A, but then East would have to lead to the diamond K for the making trick. East actually tossed his diamond 10, whereupon Mr. Fishbein put him in with the diamond A. If East now led his last spade to the Q, the diamond K would be the making trick. So he led the club to West's Q, and the latter had to lead to the diamond K, the spade Q being the game trick.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

"If I know Queen Olga," I said, "and I think I do, she will be extremely glad to have her daughter enter any honorable profession which will give her an income and keep her out of mischief."

Mary stared at me with wide-open eyes.

"What about the dignity which doth hedge a princess?" she asked rhetorically. "I thought that was so bred in the queen's bones that she never could forget it."

"That's where you're mistaken," I told her quickly. "I have been most agreeably surprised by her attitude toward the new conditions which surround her. She seems determined to put all memories of her former pomp and glory behind her, and to accept unreservedly her new surroundings and make the best of them."

"So you think Queen Olga would approve this stunt of Olina's?" Mary asked slowly.

"I am sure she would," I answered, "provided," I added, "that she was convinced it would not interfere with your success or your happiness in any way."

"How could it interfere with my success?" she asked. "It's a problematical thing, the Lord knows, but I don't think Olina's playing a harp in one scene would affect it. Would her mother think she could steal that scene from me?"

"No, indeed," I said quickly. "But she might reason that Olina's presence in your play might cause you nervousness or uneasiness at the very time when you will need every ounce of your coolness and courage on the job."

"Will I ever?" Mary ejaculated. "But not on account of anything Olina can do, and to do her justice I don't believe she's trying to do me dirt about the play. That stunt, I am sure, springs solely from her own ambition. But her sudden and ardent yen for my companionship is something else again. I can't quite see that she has a genuine longing for my company can you? Or—can you?"

There was no use evading the truth as I saw it, even if I had wished to do so.

"No, I can't!" I said honestly. "I think she's trying to monopolize you so Noel and you won't have a chance to see much of each other. But Mary, I really don't think she's in love with Noel. I think she's simply bored to tears and ready for any mischief."

"I'd respect her a lot more if she were honestly in love with Noel," Mary flashed with her own honesty and hatred of malicious mischief sounding in her voice.

"I wouldn't," I replied vindictively. "I'm afraid I'm old-fashioned, really mid-Victorian, for I have no respect for anyone, no matter how much 'in love,' who tries to separate a man and woman who love each other."

"You are old-fashioned," Mary said, stressing the verb. But her face was lighted with affection as she spoke, and she hugged me warmly. Then she went on hesitatingly

"Will you think I'm a cat if I tell you something else Olina's pulled?"

HIS MIND WANDERED

HICKORY, N. C.—(AP)—The telephone rang.

"Piedmont Dry Cleaners," briskly answered George Hayes.

"I beg your pardon," he corrected quickly, "Lutz Drug store."

"No, I mean the Hickory Drug store."

Hayes had worked at all, three places.

Care Makes Attractive Permanent

By MME QUI VIVE

Some women have a knack with hair, others haven't. Some can get marvelous results with a thin thatch; others blessed with ambrosial locks tag around with jackstraw heads. Many complain about permanents that would be satisfactory to anybody else. They just don't know how to manage them.

The permanent does not supply much of a pattern unless the hair is thick and coarse. It is not to be expected. It does give the hair the curl quality. Even naturally curly hair has to be treated right to produce a charming pattern. It's up to the owner to get hairwise, learn to pet and coddle her tresses, bring out the loveliness that is hidden away when they are neglected or abused.

When the human wool gets its first permanent wave it is distraught and distracted, doesn't know which way to turn. After the shampoo it is hard to comb, getting into tight tangles. The expert has no difficulty putting it through its paces. It is combed out straight as a string while wet, a setting lotion is applied, the finger wave put in the graceful undulation. We can use that good old bromide, "It isn't the original cost; it's the upkeep," because only the clever girl can manage to press in the wave lines.

When the hair emerges from the shampoo each shaft should be spiral. If it isn't, the wave is weak; was not properly timed or the strands were not wound tightly enough.

Soap left in the hair will take away the spiral spring. Many a disgruntled customer has washed her hair to find it straight and stringy gone back to the beauty shop to register a complaint, only to be given a shampoo that restored the locks to curlycues and ringlets.

For two weeks before each permanent, the hair should be conditioned, especially if the brain mat is coarse. Fine, silky, oily hair doesn't dry out under the treatments very much, but even they have oil treatments. The night before the shampoo apply hot olive or mineral oil, rubbing it into the scalp, applying to the dry ends of the hair.

Hair that has a natural wave can be curled at the ends. The timing should be limited to a few minutes if the effect is not to be that of a frizz.

For a few days after the wave it is advisable to put brilliantine on the comb. That practice eases up the strain on the shafts, imparts a flattering glittery surface, tends to make the locks stay put. The wise woman will have her beauty shop operator follow the same wave pattern each time. That trains the hair, promotes a more lasting design.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

Tommy said, "The kid's right, Fab. She's got a right to do what she pleases. You're taking that settlement house too seriously. Imagine you playing policewoman to a kid from the slums!"

Fabienne turned to him with her eyes flashing. "What's so funny about that?" she demanded.

"Nothing, honey, nothing. But you don't think you're responsible for that kind of a kid, you you?"

"Somebody has to be," she said, her face growing serious and thoughtful.

"This place gives me the willies," Dru told her husband. "I never did like slumming. It sounds amusing but I'll take El Morocco."

They left at once without so much as a backward glance at the little Italian girl sitting with the two brown boys.

At El Morocco, Tommy picked up the check for the six of them and Fabienne found herself looking at it and thinking, for the first time in her life, of what the money spent in a smart cafe would mean if it were applied to a fund to prevent such things as she had seen a few hours before.

Going back to her luxurious apartment in the Plaza, Fabienne said to Drusilla, "You know, Dru, she's a nice little kid. I feel . . . somehow that it's all my fault."

Druisilla said, "Fab's got an edge on. You'll feel better in the morning, darling."

But in the morning, Fabienne awoke thinking of Rose and the memory of her little painted face came before her and the morning paper she was trying to read. Rose's face, as it had defied her. And Rose's face as it had looked on Christmas night when she said, "Real prize fighters and artists got their start in classes at the house. If we had a dramatic class, we might—some of us—become famous. And all the kids would love it."

Fabienne consigned Mrs. Cheeseborough to the proper place for ladies who did such things.

Then she shrugged her shoulders as if to dismiss the whole incident.

But there was no forgetting it when Rose, white-faced and blushing by turns in an agony of embarrassment and apology, came to her office the next afternoon.

"Hello, Rose," she greeted the child with a friendly smile.

Rose kept her eyes on the floor. Her tongue stumbled and she spoke brokenly, "Oh, Miss Seymour! I didn't mean it! Honest! I didn't know what I was saying. I didn't mean—"

"Sit down, Rose. I know you didn't mean it. Just tell me why you went there. Why you like it?"

The little Italian girl raised her black velvet eyes and kept them fixed at a point above Fabienne's head. "Gee, Miss Seymour, you don't know what some people's homes is like."

"Perhaps I can guess," Fabienne answered gently.

"We got seven in our family. We live in two rooms. Kitchen and bedroom. Me and my two sisters sleep in the kitchen. The old man and my brother sleeps in the other room."

Fabienne repressed a shudder. "And you have no place to entertain?"

Rose shook her black curls. "Nobody has in this neighborhood. It ain't like where you live. But I ain't so different from you. I gotta have fun." That was what she had said the night before.

Fabienne nodded understandly. "Of course you do. But . . . there must be other places besides that . . . that dance hall. The movies, friend's houses, the settlement house—"

"The movies cost money. My friends ain't got no more place to have other kids in than I have," Rose explained pathetically. "The settlement house? Sure, I come here when there's something doing, but, you know, Miss Seymour, a girl likes boys. Boys ain't going to sit around here and talk. That's why I thought if we had the theater—"

"Yes." Fabienne interrupted. "Tell me one thing more, Rose. Why did you go with those Fil—those boys?"

"Because they got money," Rose said in a small voice.

Fabienne felt her heart turn sick. Yes, those boys had money to spend on a girl; first for dance hall tickets and drinks, and later for perfume and trinkets and sleazy litle personal presents, and then—

Suddenly she felt an immense sorrow, a great helpless pity, and swift anger against society in general, and Mrs. Cheeseborough in particular.

Strangely, it didn't occur to her that there was something that she could do. Although the idea must have been there, buried benath the sudden appreciation she felt for her own comfortable existence.

Gertrude, with an income of fifteen thousand dollars a year, had had hysterics because she was not to have five million more dollars to spend on homes, more servants, more parties and more clothes.

Thinking of them, Fabienne grinned a bit grimly. It was fortunate that Gertrude loved clothes so much that she couldn't resist buying them, not only for herself, but for her daughter. For Fabienne, on a mere five hundred a month, could hardly have bought a stitch for herself.

Every cent of her money went to live—for rent in the hotel, the upkeep of her car, for tips and occasional dinners she gave. But she had to have them. Nicky had called her a sybarite and so she was, loving soft blankets and luxurious baths, the hands of an expert beautician, obsequious service, a perfumed background.

Poor little Rose Riccio and her thousands of sisters. Fabienne could not have borne it.

She grew to love her apartment, to thrill when she opened her closet door and saw frock after frock hanging on its perfumed form; to savor her rich food. To appreciate the things she could not do without.

Other girls could live in small apartments, have a part-time maid, buy clothes, have good times, save money on five hundred dollars a month, but Fabienne Seymour was the granddaughter of a multi-millionaire, and she could not imagine having less than she had.

But the idea must have been there—

Ned Blakely took her to the Carousal club one night. "Did you know this is a gambling joint?" he asked her.

"Ned, I've gambler's blood in my veins and I've solemnly vowed I'd never gamble for money. But . . . but, I'll go along with you. I'll play hunches . . . if you'll give me the first five hundred you make."

Ned was a little slow. He scratched his head. "I don't get this," he said dubiously, "but if your hunches are good, I'll take a chance. Where do you come in on this?"

"If you win five hundred over your investment, I don't come in. I go OUT!" she said with wry gallantry. "Because I'm going to double that five hundred."

He gave up completely. The girl was talking in riddles.

"Put it on 24," she told him, indicating his first stack of chips. "Red."

The ball dropped on 24—red. It dropped on 14—black. On red 36. Twelve times, out of fifteen, it dropped on the number Fabienne whispered to him.

He counted off five one hundred dollar bills and gave them to her. "What now?" he wanted to know.

"I don't know," she said. "Your little winnings have cost me two months' income. You won't find me at the Plaza after the first of the month, darling."

"I get it. With this money and your income for a couple of months you're going on a criuse?"

She nodded. "To the never-never land, darling. No one will ever believe it about little Fab. Not even myself. Come on, Ned. Our work's done. And nice work it is!"

WHITE BUFFALO

Rare Albino Seen Grazing With Herd In Alaska Wastes.

JUNEAU, Alaska—(AP)—One of those million-to-one freaks of nature, an Albino buffalo, has been sighted in the Big Delta country, south of Fairbanks. Dr. William T. Hornaday, famed conservationist, says probably not more than 10 or 11 white buffalo have even been seen by white men.

CHILDREN'S Frequent COLDS

✓ For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest, and back at bedtime. VapoRub's poultice-vapor action relieves congestion of upper air passages—eases soreness of chest and back muscles—helps the youngster relax into healing sleep.

✓ For coughing and irritated throat caused by colds, put VapoRub on the child's tongue to relieve the irritation. Then massage VapoRub on throat and chest.

✓ For "sniffles" and misery of head colds, melt VapoRub in a bowl of boiling water. Have the child breathe in the steaming vapors. This loosens phlegm, clears air passages, makes breathing easier. Also massage VapoRub on throat and chest. Millions of families use these three time-tested treatments.

"Vendol Is Worth A Fortune To Me," Says Mansfield Lady

"I feel so much better since taking this Root, Herb, and Alkaline medicine that I advise everyone to try it." Relieved dizziness, coated Tongue, stomach upsets, and other troubles due to constipation.

MRS. ADREW JOHNSON

The outstanding success of Vendol in Mansfield and nearby vicinity continues with an ever-increasing demand for this celebrated medicine, as more and more well known men and women tell of its remarkable powers. Out of heartfelt gratitude, and a sincere desire to help other sufferers, people in all walks of life are publicly praising this great medicine made from extracts of roots and herbs with alkalines added for extra benefits. People who had suffered for years from constipation which caused sour, acid indigestion, biliousness, cramps, aches and pains, sick headaches, and other associated inorganic complaints, tell of the amazing relief Vendol gives.

Mrs. Andrew Johnson of 34 Winwood Drive, Mansfield, whose husband is employed at Westinghouse, happily tells how this famous medicine relieved her after being disappointed with everything tried.

"I suffered miseries owing to constipation which made me so nervous that I seldom got a full night's rest. It also caused so much sour stomach, gas, bloating, and distress after meals that I dared not eat certain foods.

"The constipation made me so bilious and I'd have such dizzy spells that I often had to hold something to steady myself till they passed over. I dreaded extra activity because it seemed to tire me out so badly.

"I tried different medicines, but for all the good they did I might as well have saved my money. It was a lucky day for me when I started taking Vendol, and it was amazing how quickly it acted.

"Vendol soon relieved my constipation; then all my other troubles passed off, and this has left me feeling like myself once more and enjoying my meals with no more distress. My advice to anyone in the same condition I was in is to get Vendol at once."

Why not do what thousands right here at home have done; that is, give Vendol a chance to help you. Come to Central Drug Store, Cor. Main and Fourth Sts., and let the Vendol Man tell you all about this great Root, Herb and Alkaline medicine. All druggists sell it.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY M'LEMORE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (U P) — $2500 a yard.

$69.41 an inch.

That is what Johnny Butler's touchdown run against Auburn's Tigers on Saturday was worth to the University of Tennessee. It meant the Rose Bowl, and that flower-scented extravaganza carries a reward of $100,000.

Figure it out for yourself, and if I'm wrong sue Miss Mary Lou Wheeler, my fifth grade teacher, who introduced me to the mysterious rites of high mathematics.

That was a pretty tough run for a sophomore back to make. He had the weight of the bowl on his shoulders and a bouquet of roses in his arms. If he fell the bowl would once again be broken for Tennessee, and once again the roses would become thorns. No one will ever convince me that Butler, when he swung around that end, wasn't running more toward Pasadena (in his thoughts, I mean) than he was toward the end zone of Shields-Watkins field.

Had Butler failed to make his run the Rose Bowl situation would have been rather acute, because Southern California was tied by U. C. L. A. and it is a bit difficult to peddle a game between two tied teams as the No. 1 football attraction of the year. But Johnny got his gun and fired it just in time to keep his team untied, unbeaten, and unscored upon.

No other bowl can offer such an attraction. It will be Tulane and the Texas Aggies in the Sugar Bowl and Tulane has been tied and the Aggies have been scored upon. Both the Orange Bowl selections, Georgia Tech and Missouri, have been beaten, and the same goes for Clemson and Boston college, Cotton Bowl combatants.

The game in Pasadena on New Year's day is likely to develop into the biggest betting game of any ever played in the mammoth stadium, deep in the Aroya Del Seco, Californians, particularly those in the southern section of the state, are red-hot backers of anything that comes from their section, be it weather, oranges, or earthquakes.

They are certain to look on Tennessee with disdain because of the Volunteers' none too rugged schedule, and produce plenty of fresh money to back the Trojans. The fact that the Vols haven't even been scored upon won't disturb them a bit.

As for the Tennessee backers—and it is even money that the entire state will follow the team on the trip to the coast—well, they'll cover everything negotiable that shows its face and serial number. Football isn't a sport around Knoxville—it's a religion.

The Tennesseeans will follow Catego and Butler and Molenski and Foxx and all the other Vols with the faith of a sawdust convert.

* * *

In fact, it is going to be such a good game that just as soon as I get through with the Gone With the Wind premiere in Atlanta, I'm going West, young man, to see it, with my chauffeur Horace Greeley, at the wheel.

Packers Annex League Title

Green Bay Eleven Wallops New York, 27-0 To Win Fifth Pro Championship.

By ARTHUR BYSTROM

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—The amazing Green Bay Packers have done it again.

For the fifth time in 11 years these stalwart football representatives of a town of 40,000 have smashed their way to a national pro football championship over the best the nation could offer.

They started winning titles back in 1929. They took two more in a row after that. In 1936 they won again. They had great ball clubs in those years, but never did they reach the peak they attained here yesterday when they beat the New York Giants, 27 to 0, to win the 1939 National football league title.

The club that won Sunday against an eleven that had the best defensive record in the National circuit was the hottest team the play-for-play circuit has seen in many a year.

It did everything right. And, strangely enough, this was the same club that made many a mistake before it barely squeezed through to win the western division title and the right to participate in the playoff.

The Giants played good football against the Packers. They were pitching every minute and threw everything they had. They blocked two punts and fought with plenty of fury to try to stop the Packer charges. But it was like trying to stop a wave.

There wasn't much doubt about the outcome after the Packers had piled up seven points in the opening quarter. The score climaxed a march of 46 yards after the Packers had made good use of a strong wind in a punt exchange.

A crowd of 32,279 paid a record gross of $83,510 to see the battle. Members of the winning team drew $703 for their day's efforts. The Giants each got $455.

Three Buckeye Players Get Pro Grid Bids

Sarkkinen, Zardworney And Andrako Study League Offers.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Three members of Ohio State's Big Ten championship football team pondered professional gridiron careers after their names were drawn in the national pro football league draft.

Esco Sarkinen, All-American end, was claimed by Green Bay, the new pro champs; Captain Steve Andrako, center, by Washington, and Frank Zadworney, halfback, by Brooklyn.

Ohio college stars drafted were Jack Padley of Dayton by Detroit; Frank Crisci of Western Reserve and John Popov of Cincinnati by the Chicago Bears, and Francis Maher of Toledo by Philadelphia.

Twenty of 1939's college stars were picked by the Cleveland Rams, Ohio's only representative in the major pro league. First Cleveland choice was Ollie Cordili of Rice, a 190-pound right halfback who may be groomed as an alternate for Parker Hall, sensational Ram passer.

The Ram list had eight backs, two centers, two guards, five tackles and three ends. Center John Haman of Northwestern was the only Big Ten player among the Ram selections.

* * *

The draft merely determines priority rights of the professional clubs to college players. The clubs now seek out their drafted men and talk salary terms if the players are interested in professional careers

Naming Champ Up to Writers

WESTERVILLE —(AP)— Reaffirming its stand against naming major sports champions, the Ohio athletic conference left the honor—and headache—of bestowing crowns up to sports writers.

"The press declares the champions anyway, and will continue to do so regardless of any conference action," asserted R. J. Kutler of Kenyon college in leading opposition to the change at the league's winter meeting here.

Members voted 31 to 3 against a resolution passed by a simple majority at their spring session calling for designation of football, basketball and baseball champions. Conference rules require a two-thirds affirmation vote in the event of protests.

WATERLOO WONDERS WIN

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Waterloo Wonders today held a 44 to 35 victory over the Columbus Athletic Supply quintet in a semi-pro tilt. The Wonders, one time holders of the state Class B high school title, rallied in the second half to overcome a substantial lead built up by the Supply five.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Tennessee and Texas A. and M., presumably two of the great football teams of the last decade or so, are about to get a chance to prove it beyond further rebuttal.

If Tennessee, with its perfect record—unmarred by even so little as a point for the opposition—can turn back Southern California in the Rose Bowl and Texas A. and M. can accomplish a similar end against Tulane in the Sugar Bowl in the two headline New Year's day spectacles, these results must bring to a lasting conclusion speculation of the merits of the so-caled Volunteers and the Aggies.

Tennessee played a miserable schedule by contrast with that other leading elevens had to face, but the Tenneseeans seemed to indicate that they could have handled just about anything thrown at them, with 10 victories for the season and 23 in a row since last beaten. The Texans also won 10 straight starts on a much tougher schedule than Tennessee's, and allowed the opposition 13 points.

Here is the New Year's day program of major attractions with the favorites named first and the probable betting odds:

Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Cal.—Southern California, 6-5, vs. Tennessee.

Sugar Bowl, New Orleans—Texas A. and M., 6-5, vs. Tulane.

Orange Bowl, Miami — Missouri, 7-5, vs. Georgia Tech.

Cotton Bowl, Dallas, Tex.—Boston College vs. Clemson, 6 to 5 and take your pick.

Sun Bowl, El Paso, Tex.—Arizona, 7-5, vs. Catholic University of Washington D. C.

While the Rose Bowl battle will as usual attract most of the attention the games at New Orleans and Miami won't be far behind from either a standpoint of interest or free-wheeling football.

As a matter of fact, the Rose Bowl lost some of its lustre over the past week-end when Tennessee barely eked out a 7 to 0 victory over the weak Auburn eleven and Southern California was held to a scoreless tie by U. C. L. A., making it four ties for the season for the latter and two for the Southern Cals.

Nevertheless, the Rose Bowl encounter will bring together a pair of teams noted for their power and the reserves, and this one should produce a memorable spectacle from a standpoint of line play.

The Sugar Bowl game figures to run to much the same pattern, while the one in the Orange Bowl will find the Paul Christman—sparked Missouri team with its great passing attack against a pony backfield from Georgia Tech that specialized in reception and ball-handling. If we had to make a choice right now—of which there is no necessity, thanks be—we would take Southern California, Texas A. and M., Georgia Tech, Clemson and Catholic University.

Kinnick Picked Over DiMaggio

Iowa's All-America Quarterback Selected By Experts As Year's Outstanding Athlete.

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK—(AP)—By a margin just about as narrow as Iowa's football victories over Notre Dame and Purdue, All-America Nile Kinnick was named the outstanding athlete of 1939 by the nation's sports experts today.

In as close a battle of ballots as the Associated Press annual poll ever witnessed in its nine years, the Hawkeyes' 60-minute backfield ace won out over jolting Joe DiMaggio, the New York Yankees' "Mr. Baseball," by eight points.

Of the 61 experts who voted for the three outstanding male athletes, amateur or professional, 21 selected the Iowa youngster with the pleasing personality as their top choice; three picked him for second place and ten for third. Votes were counted on a basis of three points for first, two for second and one for third.

* * *

Kinnick's total was 79 points. DiMaggio, first-place choice of 11 balloters, had 71.

Far down the list, with seven points, was the "king" of '37 and '38, Don Budge, California's tennis red-head.

The complete voting:

	1sts	Pts.
Nile Kinnick, Iowa, football	21	79
Joe DiMaggio, Yanks, baseball	11	71

Cleveland Title Bout Points Way To Commission Jam

By REX HESS

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Two fistic championships are placed on the line tonight in the Cleveland News' 14th annual Christmas Toy Fund show, and one bout—the 10-round Henry Armstrong-Jimmy Garrison setto for the welterweight crown—can cause a lot of headaches for a lot of people, particularly the New York boxing commission.

* * *

In the other titular scrap Al Hostak, slugging Slav from Seattle, Wash., will defend his National Boxing Association middleweight tiara against Eric Seelig, German-born New Yorker.

A week ago last Friday Armstrong was booked to defend his welter championship against lightweight King Lou Ambers in New York. Armstrong caught a cold and the bout was cancelled.

Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York commission, warned Armstrong that if he went through with the Cleveland fight, after turning down the New York shot at Ambers, he would face suspension by the New York boxing board.

The New York commission recognizes nothing less than a 15-round bout for a title match. If Garrison should win, what would the New York answer be with Armstrong already facing suspension?

No one expects Garrison to win.

Armstrong is in good condition now, and having won once from Garrison, he figures to do it again.

Eddie Mead, Armstrong's manager, said he has Garrison signed for a return bout within 90 days in event Garrison wins.

Hostak also has protected himself with a 90-day return bout agreement with Seelig in case Seelig wins.

Claims Anti-Trust Group Seeks to 'Terrify' Business

U. S. CHAMBER HITS THREATS OF PENALTIES

Hurls Charges on Eve of Quiz of Investment Banking; 13 Ohio Concerns Named.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States Chamber of Commerce accused the federal monopoly committee today of seeking to "terrify" private business by threatening more severe anti-trust penalties.

The committee opens hearings tomorrow on operations of the investment banking industry. Members of the House of Morgan and other leading investment bankers are scheduled to testify.

Meanwhile, Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, in charge of the justice department's anti-trust division, announced that civil actions would be brought in Ohio against 13 companies and 103 officials of the glassware industry.

Civil action has been decided upon, he said, because the allegations first were made at hearings before the monopoly committee and because a number of the persons to be sued had appeared as witnesses.

Arnold also announced a general investigation of the use of patents, patent pooling and licensing agreements—primarily through a grand jury shortly to be convened in New York City. Department officials, he said, expected that a series of proceedings against companies and officials of various industries would result.

The chamber's accusation was contained in a report filed by a special committee for ratification. It rejected the monopoly committee's recommendations for changes in patent as well as anti-trust statutes, and other "proposals for further control of industries by governmental agencies."

The monopoly committee, in a "preliminary report" of its findings in various other industries several months ago, recommended the alterations opposed by the chamber's committee. Some of the recommendations have been enacted.

The justice department, which has been conducting the committee's study of anti-trust law questions, also drew the criticism of the chamber. It denounced the department's "oppressive" practice of seeking mass indictments against corporations and officers of particular industries.

Uses Ads Instead of Speeches, Wins Windsor Election

DETROIT — An innovation in political campaigning brought sweeping success to a Windsor, Ont., business man, who was elected controller of the city without ever having made a single campaign speech.

William H. McCreery, veteran jeweler of the city across the Detroit river, conducted his entire campaign by newspaper advertising. His short, pithy speeches and "platform" were given to his city by means of well-placed ads, while he remained in the background of the political picture.

While other candidates resorted to the old methods of campaigning, McCreery polled the largest vote of any candidate in the municipal elections, he and his successful associates sweeping out the "leftists" in city government.

Just how many Mansfielders attended the Marian Anderson concert at Sandusky Saturday night is not known, but one of them, Mrs. E. D. Gibson, West Fourth street, and her party, counted more than 200 in the audience that they knew by sight. Mansfield had the largest delegation of Civic Music association members of any other city in the state, outside of Sandusky, at the concert, according to officials. But practically every city in the state which has a Civic Music organization, was represented at the concert, as membership cards in any city are good wherever there is a concert, without additional cost.

HITS 'TAPPING'

Supreme Court Reverses 3 Convictions of New Yorkers.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The supreme court reversed today the conviction of three New Yorkers who contended that evidence obtained by wire-tapping had been admitted improperly at their trial.

Justice Frankfurter delivered the opinion that upset the conviction on a charge of smuggling alcohol into New York.

Justice McReynolds dissented without a written opinion.

Frankfurter said it was "plainly" established that "wire-tapping was unlawfully employed.".

The men were Frank Carmine Nardone, Nathan W. Hoffman and Robert Gottfried. Nardone was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and fined $3,000. Hoffman was given two years and fined $2,500. Gottfried was sentenced to a year and a day.

NO, IT DOESN'T

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today revealed that she would stick to her usually custom of not buying her grandchildren war-like toys for Christmas.

But sadly, the first lady commented:

"From the looks of things (in the world,) I am afraid refraining from not buying war-like toys doesn't do much good."

MAKE NEW FARM BACKING CLAIMS

New Dealers Contend Ruralites Will Give Them Greater Support In 1940.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Victorious in three important farmer referenda this fall, administration leaders contended today that New Deal crop control policies would go into the 1940 presidential campaign with greater support from producers than at any time since their inauguration in 1933.

Cotton producers, joined growers of burley and flue-cured tobacco by voting Saturday to adopt strict marketing control provisions next year. Virtually complete returns gave 803,095 votes for marketing quotas and 79,929 against.

Disputing administration tion claims of increased farmer support, Republican farm leaders proceeded with a "grass roots" study of the agricultural problem. Their finds will be used in formulating substitute programs to be offered in next year's election campaign.

The group already has conferred with farmers in the Rocky Mountain region and the Great Plains, and will meet Friday at Springfield, Ill.

Administration leaders cited results of this fall's referenda and participation of corn and wheat growers in programs affecting these crops as evidence of stronger approval of federal efforts to boost farm income.

The majority in favor of cotton quotas was 90 per cent. A favorable margin of 66.7 per cent of the votes cast is required by the farm act. A year ago, in a similar referendum, quotas for this year's crop received a majority of 84 per cent.

CRESTLINE—Guests for the F. M. B. club meeting at the home of Mrs. John Wise were Mrs. Ernest Linn and Mrs. Robert Retter.

Bridge prizes were won by Mrs. F. W. Lockhart, Mrs. John Villars, Mrs. John Blancett and Mrs. Retter. Dec. 21 the club will hold their Christmas meeting.

Two More Children Identify Accused Molester, Facing Jury

George Call, 30-year-old Sharon township father, held in the county jail awaiting grand jury action on charges of rape and assault with intent to rape, had been identified by two more girls today as the man who attempted to lure them into his machine last summer.

The girls, one eight and the other nine, the first from Mansfield to identify the man as the one who has molested several small school children here during the past six months were the fifth and sixth to accuse Call.

Detective Lee J. Remy and Deputy Sheriff Glenn P. Freeman who arrested Call at his home last week said the girls identified the Vernon Junction father in a police line-up.

They told the officers that Call had attempted to lure them into his automobile on North Main street while they were returning home from the Friendly House. They said they ran into a nearby restaurant.

Call, held on $20,000 bond will go before the Richland county grand jury on Dec. 18. The September jury was recalled Saturday by Prosecutor G. W. Marriott to hear the case along with four other criminal cases.

It was indicated today that the grand jury may also be asked to return an indictment charging Call with kidnaping on the basis that he had lured at least two young girls from their homes under hoax.

ILL TWO DAYS

Mrs. Baumgarner Dies Sunday; Rites at Massillon.

Mrs. Ann Alfredda Bumgarner, 61, died at her home, 132½ Sturges avenue, at 4:40 a. m. Sunday, after an illness of only two days.

Mrs. Bumgarner came here with her husband from Massillon nine years ago. Mr. Bumgarner is yardmaster of the B. and O. railroad here. He survives, with a son Paul J. Bumgarner, Massillon, and a granddaughter, Elaine Louise, a student at Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware.

The body was removed to the Gordon-Schaidnagle-Hollinger funeral home at Massilon and will be taken to the home of her son at 910 Lincoln way west at 1 p. m. today. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Mrs. Bumgarner was a member of the Order of Eastern Star and the Ladies' auxiliary of the B. and O. veterans at Massilon.

ALTER REPORT

Police List Wrong Victim of Purse-Snatching, Correct Error.

Police today altered a report they made last Friday, which said that a purse containing $42 had been snatched from Mrs. Frances Hymes, 316½ Newman street, by a man who came onto the porch as she was leaving the home of Mrs. Henry Schmidt, 156 East Third street.

The revised report today said it was Mrs. Schmidt's purse that was taken and not that of Mrs. Hymes.

DIES IN MONROE HOME SUNDAY

Miss Alma Reed Was Lifelong Resident Of County.

Miss Alma Reed, of Monroe township, a lifelong resident of Richland county, died at her home early Sunday following a lingering illness. She was a daughter of Joseph and Elenor (Crawford) Reed, pioneer Richland county residents.

Miss Reed is survived by a sister, Miss Emma Reed at home, and a brother, Atty. J. M. Reed of Mansfield. She was a member of the Perrysville Presbyterian church.

Funeral services will be held at the Presbyterian church at 2 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. Lena Jennings officiating.

DIES OF BURNS

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Burns suffered last month were fatal yesterday to Mrs. Gertrude Hensley, 45. A cigaret started a fire in her home.

SENATOR URGES NOMINATION OF MONTANA DEM

'Great Liberal Record' Draws Praise; Garner Forces to Open Drive Thursday.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — A "draft Wheeler" note was injected today into the administration's family quarrel over choice of a successor to President Roosevelt, as backers of Vice-President John Nance Garner prepared to formally launch his campaign for the Democratic nomination.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson, of Colorado, urged his Democratic colleagues to stop quarreling over Mr. Roosevelt's successor and pick a 1940 winner by nominating Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana. Johnson said it was "silly" to attempt to draft Mr. Roosevelt against his will and that Wheeler's great liberal record would insure victory for the Democrats next year.

The Garner forces meanwhile, disclosed they will formally launch his campaign Thursday night, when E. B. Germany, leader of the Garner movement in Texas, makes a nation-wide broadcast on the subject: "John Garner and 1940." Garnerites say Germany will speak with "authority" and formally open the Texan's campaign for the presidency.

A host of Republican leaders in Washington over the week-end for the gridiron dinner, went home without settling their most pressing current issue—whether to hold their convention before or after the Democrats, in the summer or in the fall. Decision rests with the national committee, which will be called into session by National Chairman John D M Hamilton whenever he sees fit. Hamilton will not issue the call until there is better agreement on when to hold the convention.

In proposing Wheeler as a compromise candidate for the Democrats, Johnson jibed at Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska Republican independent, who demanded that Mr. Roosevelt be drafted for a third term, and at Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, another third termer who declared a new deal war on social security Administrator Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana.

TWO MURDERED

Brother, Sister Slain During Family Quarrel in Indiana.

PAOLI, Ind.— (AP) —A southern Indiana hill country shooting which broke up a family quarrel brought death to a sister and brother and landed the woman's grown son in jail.

Sheriff Noble Ellis said Jewell Dailey, 21, of Paoli, had confessed killing his uncle with a .38-calibre revolver because the uncle, Harley Dailey, 48, had slain his mother, Mrs. Edna Landrus, 42, with a .410-gauge shotgun.

The shooting took place yesterday on the farm of Mrs. Josephine Dailey, 75, widowed mother of Harley Dailey and Mrs. Landrus.

HELD TO JURY

Shiloh Man Pleads Guilty To Motor Vehicle Charge.

Alvin Guthrie, 23, of R. D. 2, Shiloh, recently paroled from the Ohio State reformatory was held in the county jail today awaiting jury action on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent.

Arraigned before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court this morning, Guthrie pleaded guilty and was bound over to the grand jury under $2,500 bond.

Guthrie was arrested Saturday as a parole violator after he allegedly stole two automobiles and wrecked one of them near Bucyrus.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Pegler Goes Further In Discussion of Communist Leadership of Groups

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON—I would like to continue my discussion of Mrs. Roosevelt's piece regarding the perplexity of one who joins an organization with honest motives but presently learns that the organization is suspected of being a front for Communism or Facism.

Mrs. Roosevelt is fortunate. She can resign from any group. The family history contains no mention of any Roosevelt who ever had to engage in common toil to earn a living

Newspaper men and women, however, who have joined the Newspaper Guild under the presidency of Heywood Broun and under the aggressive internal influence of several other officers of similar mind toward Communism, must consider resignation as a grave step, fraught with economic peril.

Broun's attitude toward Communism, and not mere idealistic Marxian book Communism but the bloody, brutal Stalin Communism as of August 26, 1938, was expressed in a declaaration that day that all those activities which are commonly known as atrocities and repressions were mere faults.

He also uttered a solemn refusal to attack the Stalin government which he regarded as the greatest effort ever made for human betterment.

That was only a little over fifteen months ago. So believing, Broun obviously must have believed in the Moscow press system which, of course, means absolute exclusion of conflicting views and deliberate invention, exaggeration and distortion in favor of Communism.

He has given other indications of such a belief. It goes without saying that other influential officeholders and politicians in the Guild hold similar views.

Such being the case, the declaration of purpose in the first article of the Guild constitution in favor of honest journalism and higher ethics need be mentioned only as an example of droll cynicism.

I have lifted Broun's declaration out of its context only for purposes of brevity. You may read it whole in the files, and, on doing so, must agree that I have not trifled with his meaning.

It may be said that these are not Broun's views today. It is not for me to say whether they are or are not. But the newspaper guild was substantially the same on Aug. 26, 1938, as it is today so I will date my discussion back to that time.

What was there to deter non-Communist or anti-Communist journalists from resigning from the guild or refusing to join it? Plenty.

The guild was demanding the closed shop in all the journalism of the United States. It had even then imposed the closed shop or modified closed shop in some of the plants having the most jobs to offer at high rates of pay which existed long before the guild was organized. The guild still aspires to a total closed shop in every American paper and syndicate.

Suppose a group should resign by way of endorsing the American republic rather than Stalinism as the greatest, and most effective, effort ever made for human betterment. A year ago or now, it makes no difference. By their withdrawal, they remove the militant, pro-American element from the guild membership in their shop and the remainder, under its leadership, has no opposition.

The guild then calls a strike as a political demonstration of solidarity with Moscow.

The pro-Americans are neither strikers nor strike-breakers but go to their jobs as usual for two motives, first to earn a living, second to repudiate and combat that sentiment at the top which holds the Russian massacres to have been mere "mistakes" and censorship of the press to be inoffensive, if not laudable.

They thus become "scabs" and perpetually ineligible, except only if they obtain pardon which obviously would require recantation of their pro-American sentiments and endorsement of Moscow as the greatest effort ever made for human betterment.

That is a true statement of the reasons why many newspaper men have been afraid to dissociate themselves from an organization which they regard as a part of the Communist front. They also realize that should they resign for such reasons and refuse to rejoin for the same reasons, they would be ineligible for jobs in closed-shop plants even if they should never cross a Guild picket line in a strike.

They are sick of the arrogance, the constant spying and Sovietizing of newspaper offices and uncomfortable in their compulsory fraternization with Communist furriers none of which they foresaw when they joined, as pioneers, in the very best of faith, an organization represented as a non-political guild of workers in a mental occupation.

I discuss Broun impersonally as a union official committed by certain declarations which have been supported by his official conduct. I have seen recent superficial expressions of disappointment in Moscow but never an outright recantation and even if I saw one I would have to treat it the same as I treat changes by front by Stalin, Hitler, and Earl Browder.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—The crazy quilt of Hollywood values looked like a jigsaw in public prints the other day.

The average wage-earner, with his annual income of less than $1,000, must have gnashed a bitter tooth when he read of the "humiliation" involved in a writing man's acceptance of a mere $275 weekly pittance. The writing man was Tom Reed, an old hand at the movie-scrivening trade, and he spoke of it in a court of law where the matter of alimony payments was up.

There is no connection between Tom Reed's alimony and Hollywood's labor troubles. Not until you think about it.

The same hypothetical average wage-earner, turning his paper from Reed's troubles to Hollywood's, and presumably still gnashing, could read labor representatives' impassioned arguments that economies, if they were necessitated by war losses of revenue, should come from the fat salaries of the movie higherups.

This is logical, obviously.

BUT here is a system wherein a man is "humiliating" himself—and that is no myth but a fact—by accepting $275 a week. The humiliation lies in the particular man's past salaries, in the thousands. The object of every film worker, artist or craftsman, is to hoist his dollar value and keep it there. Once it is allowed to slip, it is the devil's own work to hoist it back again. That applies to actors, producers, directors, writers, everybody in the business. The word gets around; that star who demanded $100,000 a picture is now willing to sell her art for $75,000—or even $50,000. I've known actors to tighten their belts rather than slip from a $50 a day rating to cheaper status, even though it meant months without work.

It's crazy, but it's Hollywood. Labor unions do the same thing, only they call it a strike.

Hollywood, like the actor and the writer, is always putting on a show. It spends thousands of dollars for super-colossal premieres, for ballyhoo. What seems wanton extravagance, oddly enough, has paid dividends, more than justifying the costs.

THEATERS

THIS and That: Since the preview of "Destry Rides Again" Marlene Dietrich, the actress whom many said was through, has been receiving offers from a half dozen studios. In the new picture Marlene lays aside her enchantress trippings and plays a human being. . . . Alan Mowbray may give up acting to direct. His first attempt will be on "Paris Blackout," a story he wrote. He begins work on it Jan. 3. . . . Columbia's next important picture, now before the cameras, will be "His Girl Friday" with Cary Grant and Rosalind Russell. The story is an adaptation of the Hecht-MacArthur play "The Front Page," with a girl reporter taking the place of the never-to-be-forgotten Hildy Johnson. . . .

Comedy Is Original.

David Nivan, whose screen popularity soared with "Bachelor Mother," adds to his laurels in "Eternally Yours," a refreshingly different comedy-romance, which the Madison is showing through Tuesday. Loretta Young plays opposite him as the wife of the Great Arturo. In the second feature Jean Hersholt makes his first screen appearance as Dr. Paul Christian, a character he created for the radio. This is the first of a series of Dr. Christian stories.

Streamlines Old Theme.

While her studio has detracted some from the fresh charm of Linda Darnell by "glamorizing" her, she still remains one of the most promising of Hollywood's newcomers. "Daytime Wife" is only her second picture, but she is co-starred with Tyrone Power. It is an old theme done in a streamlined manner, but the wife gets the same results when she uses the time-honored method of holding her straying husband by giving him his own medicine.

Star Team At Majestic.

Claudette Colbert is a daffy but charming poetess in "It's A Wonderful World," one of the Majestic attractions for the middle of the week Co-starring with her is James Stewart as a private detective who is hired to keep a Broadway playboy out of trouble. A cast of well-known character comedians support them. The bill is 100 percent comedy for the second feature is "Off The Record" with Pat O'Brien and Joan Blondell.

"Christmas Carol" At Ritz.

One of the best known Christmas stories in the world's literature is Dickens' "Christmas Carol," which M-G-M made into a picture. Reginal Owen plays Scrooge, with Terry Kilburn as Tiny Tim. The story was first published in 1845 and is as popular today as it was then. The second feature at the Ritz, through Tuesday, is "The Star Maker" with Bing Crosby and a flock of talented youngsters.

YouthFul Star.

Bobby Breen, juvenile actor whose retirement from the screen is announced because of "the awkward age," is starred in "Way Down South," at the Park. Breen's voice, which has always been superior to his acting ... and screen personality, is ... in familiar songs of the south. Also shown is "Sabotage," a story of the forces that threaten the peace of America.

Diagnostic Clinic Reports Six New Cases In County.

Six new cases of tuberculosis have been discovered in Richland county, a report of the diagnostic chest clinic held at the General hospital Friday under the direction of Dr. T. L. Bliss of Akron, disclosed today.

Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, said the new cases brings to 37 the total number found in the county this year. Out of 374 persons examined for symptoms of the disease this year, 331 have shown negative tests.

Twenty-three suspects were examined Friday. Two from Shelby showed symptoms of tuberculosis and the other four who had the disease were from other parts of the county. Of the 14 persons from Mansfield examined, all showed a negative test.

The diagnostic clinic is supported from the sale of Christmas health seals now being distributed through the county by the county Tuberculosis association.

DATE SET FOR BIBLE SCHOOL

Classes For Sunday School Teachers to Get Under Way on Jan. 15.

Ralph B. Chapman, chairman of the Board of Community Church School Administration, has announced that the annual Mansfield Bible Study and Leadership Training school will open Jan. 15.

The school is open to all Sunday school teachers and workers in Mansfield and Richland county churches and is sponsored by the Sunday School Superintendents association and the Y. M. C. A. Courses in Sunday school leadership and on the Bible are offered.

Rev. C. F. Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, has been named dean of the school for the second year. Classes will be held every Monday evening for a period of 10 weeks in a Mansfield church yet to be selected by the committee.

Committees named to assist Chapman in arrangements for the school are: faculty and curriculum, Mrs. Charles Ray, George Hoover, Rev. David N. Roller and Rev. Sheriff; publicity and attendance, George Hoover, W. P. Close, Jesse Beer and Conrad Diehm; finance and registration, Rex Averill and Robert Miller.

Paul Garverick of the Lincoln Heights Church of the Brethren, was elected president of the superintendents association for 1940 at a recent meeting. Other officers chosen are Conrad Diehm, St. John's Evangelical church, vice president, and Robert Miller, St. Matthew's Lutheran church, secretary-treasurer.

Farm Leader Says America Can 'Live Alone, Like It.'

COLUMBUS, O. —(INS)— The shock of Europe's war has awakened thinking Americans to the fact that no other country has such remarkable capacities as the United States for economic independence, according to Wheeler McMillen, president of the National Farm Chemurgic council.

"The basis of policy for the United States should be maximum development of America's agricultural and industrial resources," McMillen said. "War abroad has dramatized the dangerous complications inherent in American dependence upon foreign nations for either materials or markets."

"Our farmers make the most money upon their sales to American markets They make less upon the products that must depend upon foreign markets, witness the fact that cotton, wheat and lard, squeezed in the world market, are the weakest areas in farm price structure."

Attorney General Clarifies New Amendment To Regulations.

Atty. General Thomas J. Herbert ruled today that holders of C-2 state liquor permits, formerly limited to sale of beer for consumption off the premises, now may sell beer, wine and bottled highballs, cocktails and cordials for consumption off the premises

Associated Press dispatches from Columbus said Herbert ruled that the additional privileges were authorized by an amendment effective last June 6.

UP 22 PER CENT

County Sales Tax Gains $82,000 In Eleven Months.

Showing a gain of $82,723 over the first 11 months of last year, Richland county's 1939 sales tax receipts are up 22 per cent while the general increase in the state was only 15 9 per cent over last year.

The county's collections to Dec. 1, this year amounted to $449,944 as compared with $367,221 for a similar period in 1938, State Treasurer Don H. Ebright reported. The increase in Ohio this year totaled $5,524,122 with receipts to Dec. 1 amounting to $38,369,362.

While a number of Ohio counties reported decreases for the last w ek in November, Richland county's collections were up $2,231 over the corresponding week of 1938, or a gain of 26 per cent.

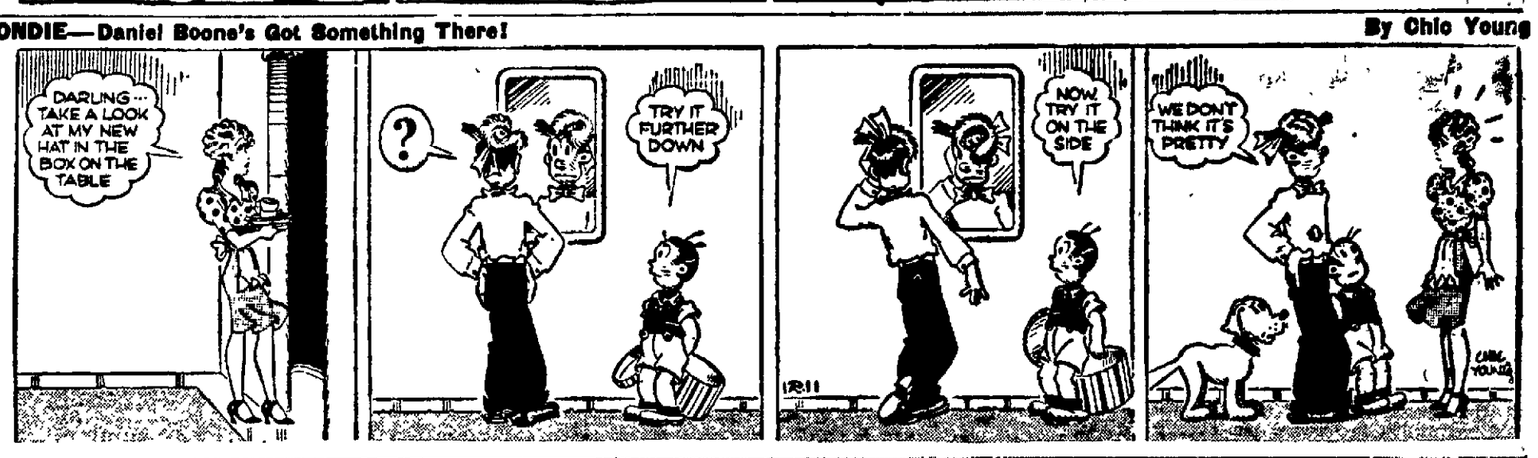
POPEYE— Two Peas in a Pod

LIL' ABNER— Pilgrim's Progress By Harold Gray

IT'S THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY, JASON BLACK, TO SEE YOU---
HE'S COME TO SEE ME? HM-M-SEND HIM IN AT ONCE, TALLY-
12-11-39
HELLO, TECUM-JUST PASSING-DROPPED IN-REALIZE YOU MUST BE BUSY ON THAT ANSON JOG CASE-HOW ARE YOU COMING ALONG?
WELL, NOT MUCH TO GO ON-HE'LL PROBABLY HAVE AN AIR-TIGHT ALIBI-
AH--I DOUBT IT- I BELIEVE YOU WILL BE ABLE TO PRODUCE SEVERAL UNIMPEACHABLE WITNESSES WHO WILL PLACE HIM AT THE SCENE OF THE CRIME-
WELL, THAT'S INTERESTING-BUT JUDGE KNUCKLE-HE WAS PLACED ON THE BENCH BY JOG, WASN'T HE?
HM-M--THAT'S THE GOSSIP, I BELIEVE-BUT I CAN ASSURE YOU, JUDGE KNUCKLE WILL NOT ALLOW THAT TO SWAY HIM--IN THIS CASE-
WELL, THAT, TOO, IS VERY INTERESTING-IT IS, INDEED-

BLONDIE— Daniel Boone's Got Something There! By Chic Young



PAM— Unexpected! By A. W. Brewerton

THE VOICE THAT COMES OVER THE WIRE TO DAVID IS MUFFLED AND SLURRED AS IF THE SPEAKER SEEKS TO DISGUISE IT SOMEWAY!
CAN YOU TALK A LITTLE PLAINER, PLEASE? I CAN HARDLY UNDERSTAND YOU!
I SAID-WHAT D'YOU KNOW ABOUT THE GIRL? -WHAT'S THAT "INFORMATION" YOU'VE GOT?
12-11
THE GIRL'S FIRST NAME IS JENNY -- RIGHT?
RIGHT!--GO ON.
SAY-I'M THE ONE CONCERNED, AIN'T I? I'LL TAKE A CHANCE - GO ON - WHAT D'YOU KNOW?
LISTEN, FRIEND-THIS INFORMATION I HAVE IS TOO CONFIDENTIAL -TOO SERIOUS TO GIVE OVER THE TELEPHONE! -CAN YOU COME HERE -OR, I'LL MEET YOU ANY PLACE YOU SAY!
I'M SORRY-BUT-I CAN'T DO THAT-IT-IT MIGHT INVOLVE TOO MANY PEOPLE-CAN'T EXPLAIN HERE!-YOU'LL HAVE TO MEET ME---
LISTEN, YOU-I DON'T THINK Y'KNOW ANY MORE'N I DO -- JUST TRYING TO TRAP ME!
--THAT'S IT! THIS IS JUST A TRAP! NOTHING DOING!--LISTEN, WISE GUY!--THE GIRL IS AT HOPE HOSPITAL!--AND SHE'S LOST HER MEMORY! -RIGHT?--NOTHING ABOUT THAT YOU COULDN'T SAY OVER THE PHONE, IS THERE?--HUH! --YOUR NICE LITTLE TRICK JUST WON'T WORK!
THOUGH DAVID IS STUNNED BY THIS UNEXPECTED TURN OF EVENTS, A STRANGE LIGHT HAS COME INTO HIS EYES!

THE NEBBS— That's My Opinion By Sol Hess

WELL, BUSINESS LADY, I UNDERSTAND YOU HAD A TALK WITH EMBERT. HOW DID HE IMPRESS YOU? CONSIDERING YOUR COMMERCIAL EXPERIENCE, YOUR OPINION SHOULD BE MOST CONVINCING 12-11
DON'T GET SARCASTIC-BUT IF YOU WANT TO KNOW MY OPINION HE HAS GENIUS AND INTELLECT BUT HE HAS NOT USED THE BEST JUDGMENT IN SELECTING A BUSINESS PARTNER
SO YOU THINK THE BUSINESS END OF THE PROPOSITION IS A BIT WEAK?
YES, MENTALLY-BUT I'M IN HOPES THE PROPOSITION IS SO GOOD IT WILL GO FORWARD IN SPITE OF IT

BRICK BRADFORD— And the Metal Monster. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

INTO THE CAR-QUICKLY! WE'VE GOT TO BEAT THEM TO THE MONSTER!
IF WE GET THERE IN TIME WE MAY STILL-- -FOIL KOPAK'S PLANS!

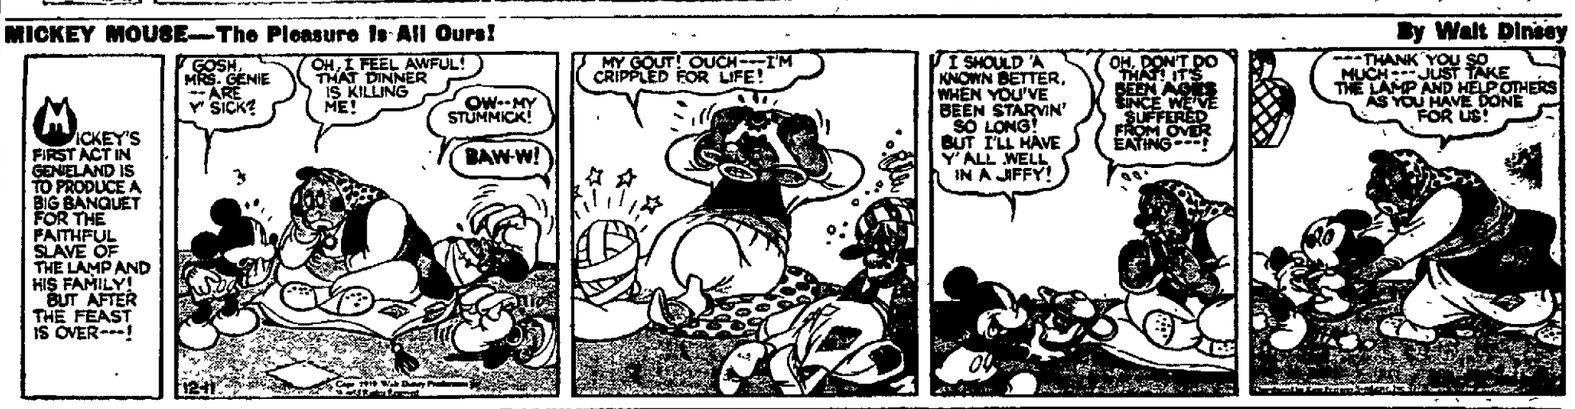
MICKEY MOUSE— The Pleasure Is All Ours! By Walt Disney



MICKEY'S FIRST ACT IN GENIELAND IS TO PRODUCE A BIG BANQUET FOR THE FAITHFUL SLAVE OF THE LAMP AND HIS FAMILY! BUT AFTER THE FEAST IS OVER---!
GOSH, MRS. GENIE --ARE Y' SICK?
OH, I FEEL AWFUL! THAT DINNER IS KILLING ME!
OW--MY STUMMICK!
BAW-W!
12-11
MY GOUT! OUCH---I'M CRIPPLED FOR LIFE!
I SHOULD 'A KNOWN BETTER, WHEN YOU'VE BEEN STARVIN' SO LONG! BUT I'LL HAVE Y' ALL WELL IN A JIFFY!
OH, DON'T DO THAT! IT'S BEEN AGES SINCE WE'VE SUFFERED FROM OVER EATING---!
---THANK YOU SO MUCH---JUST TAKE THE LAMP AND HELP OTHERS AS YOU HAVE DONE FOR US!

BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus

BY GOLLY-I'LL ASK THAT FELLOW WHAT THERE IS TO SEE HERE IN DETROIT-I WILL HAVE TO JOLLY HIM ALONG-TO GIT HIM TO LOOSEN UP.
WHAT'S THAT?
I SAID THIS IS CERTAINLY A SWELL TOWN-GREAT MANUFACTURING CENTER-BEAUTIFUL PARKS-AND THE PEOPLE ARE SO HOSPITABLE-12-11
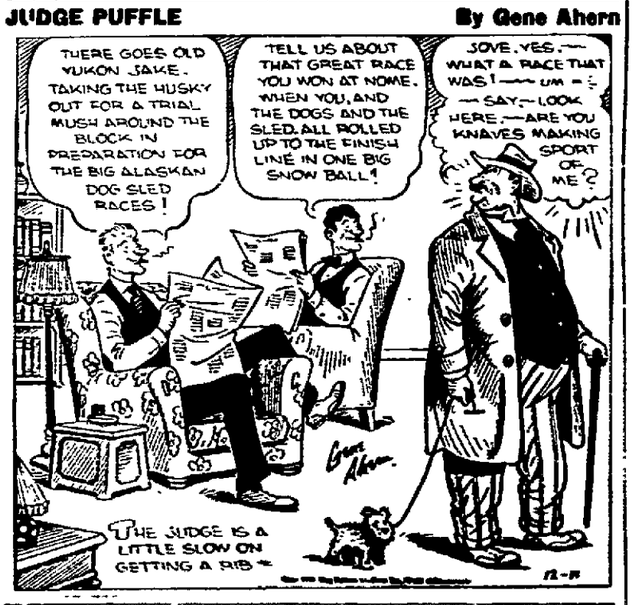
AND JUST LOOK AT THOSE BUILDINGS-ANYONE THAT HAS AN EYE FOR BEAUTY COULD LOOK AT THEM ALL DAY-IT WOULD TAKE A FEW WEEKS TO SEE ALL THE PLACES OF INTEREST-
SAY-IF YOU THINK THIS IS A SWELL CITY-YOU SHOULD VISIT MY HOME TOWN-WE GOT THE LAST WORD IN EVERYTHING-

JUDGE PUFFLE By Gene Ahern



THERE GOES OLD YUKON JAKE-TAKING THE HUSKY OUT FOR A TRIAL MUSH AROUND THE BLOCK IN PREPARATION FOR THE BIG ALASKAN DOG SLED RACES!
TELL US ABOUT THAT GREAT RACE YOU WON AT NOME, WHEN YOU AND THE DOGS AND THE SLED ALL ROLLED UP TO THE FINISH LINE IN ONE BIG SNOW BALL!
GOVE, YES,--WHAT A RACE THAT WAS!---UM--SAY--LOOK HERE,--ARE YOU KNAVES MAKING SPORT OF ME?
THE JUDGE IS A LITTLE SLOW ON GETTING A RIB
12-11

THE GUMPS— No Thrill By Gus Edson

NO LUCK YET, FOLKS-THE BUREAU OF MISSING PERSONS IS WORKING DAY AND NIGHT ON THE CASE-AS ALSO HAVE BEEN MY OWN PRIVATE DETECTIVES
A LARGE CITY AFFORDS BETTER HIDING PLACES THAN AN INACCESSIBLE JUNGLE-
IF ONLY WE HAD A PHOTO OF BABY
12-11
IT WOULD BE EASIER TO TRACK DOWN A CRIMINAL-BUT BABY IS SO MUCH LIKE THOUSANDS OF OTHER LONELY YOUNG GIRLS ONE SEES ON OUR THOROUGHFARES DAILY!
SOUP'S ON!!
OH-IF SHE WOULD JUST POCKET HER PRIDE AND COME HOME!
THE SIGHT OF ALL THIS FOOD MAKES ME SAD-WE'RE IN THE MIDST OF PLENTY WHILE BABY, POOR CHILD, WOULD PROBABLY BE HAPPY AT THE SIGHT OF A CRUST OF BREAD-
FOOD-FOOD-FOOD! I SERVE TONS OF EET ALL DAY LONG-I AM SEEK OF LOOKING AT EET!!!

LI'L ABNER— Oh, Professor, How Could You ! ! By Al Capp

("FILTHY LUCK!-JUST WHEN I HAD THE FORMULA-THE LADDER SLIPPED!")
AH-H!-THAR TIS!
WHAT BRINGS YOU HERE AT THIS HOUR-?-THE FORMULA!-IS IT SAFE?
SHO 'NUFF!-FO' A MINUTE AH THOUGHT IT WERE LOST-AN' THEN AH FOUND IT ON TH' WINDERSILL-A HAND WERE A-HOLDIN' IT!!!
WHOSE HAND?
AH DUNNO, AH DIDN'T AX!
SOMETIMES YOKUM I WONDER IF YOU REALLY ARE THE BRAINIEST MAN IN THE SECRET SERVICE!

EFFORTS TO STIR MARKET MEET SCANT RESULTS

Bethlehem Steel and Republic Among Group Inclined to Slip Downward.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YOFK—Efforts to stir up a mild rally in today's stock market met with scant response.

Inclined to slip were Bethlehem Steel, Republic, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Standard Oil of N. J., General Electric, International Harvester, Glenn Martin, National Biscuit and J. C. Penney.

Resistant were U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck, Electric Boat, Loft, Johns-Manville, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison and Chrysler.

Bonds and commodities were mixed. Cotton, tin and rubber futures were among the few strong staples. European securities markets were steady.

Merchandising shares were studied following publication of the federal reserve board's summary disclosing the country's department store sales in November exceeded those in the corresponding 1938 month by 6 per cent.

Board rooms noted the review of the magazine "Steel" which said moderation in forward purchasing is more pronounced, with orders falling slightly behind shipments.

"A Treasure House of Christmas Gifts"

It was Hit or Miss
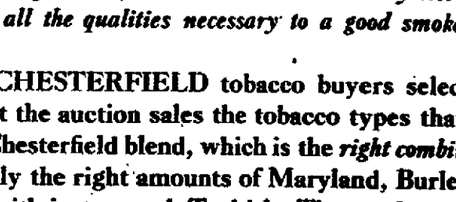
in Grandfather's Day



When your grandfather needed tobacco he probably went to the tobacconist in his community and had a lot of fun blending different types of tobacco together and trying out the different mixtures.

HE MAY HAVE FINALLY HIT on a combination of tobaccos that was pretty much to his fancy . . . that tasted all right to him and wasn't too strong. So the tobacconist, with an eye to future business, would make up this private blend and keep some of it on hand for him.

THIS HIT OR MISS METHOD of tobacco blending was never very satisfactory. But it proved one thing to both smokers and manufacturers, that you must have a blend of tobaccos to get better smoking results, because no one tobacco by itself has all the qualities necessary to a good smoke.

THE CHESTERFIELD tobacco buyers select and bid in at the auction sales the tobacco types that best fit the Chesterfield blend, which is the right combination of exactly the right amounts of Maryland, Burley and Bright with just enough Turkish. These tobaccos and the Chesterfield way of blending them make Chesterfield different from any other cigarette.

THAT IS WHY there are millions of enthusiastic Chesterfield smokers clear across the country. They find Chesterfield COOLER, BETTER-TASTING and DEFINITELY MILDER . . . just what they want for real smoking pleasure. You can't buy a better cigarette.

POPE DIRECTS CHURCH STAND ON COMMUNISM

Cardinals Given Directions at Secret Consistory; Cites Red Invasion.

(By United Press)

VATICAN CITY—Pope Pius, at a secret consistory today, imparted directions to cardinals regarding their stand in their respective posts throughout the world in face of Communism, Neo-Paganism and similar trends away from the church, unimpeachable informants said.

It was understood that the Pope especially deplored the danger that Communism and Atheism might spread in Europe as the result of the Russian-Finnish war.

The Pope named Cardinal Lauri camerlengo or chamberlain of the church.

Lorenzo Cardinal Lauri has served as chief penitentiary of the church. Seventy-five years old, he was made a cardinal in 1926. Pope Pius himself had served as camerlengo until his election as pope.

Twenty-seven cardinals attended the meeting.

Cardinal Lauri, as camerlengo, would assume supreme power during the interval between the death of a pope and the election of his successor.

At the consistory, the following appointments of United States interest were announced:

The Most Rev. Francis J. Spellman, archbishop of New York, was named bishop ordinary for the army and navy diocese which has charge of the Catholic chaplains with the American armed forces. The bishopric had been vacant since the death of Cardinal Hayes, late archbishop of New York.

The Very Rev. John F. O'Hara, president of Notre Dame university, was named titular bishop of Milasa and appointed auxiliary bishop under Archbishop Spellman for the army diocese.

The pallium, a band of white wool decorated with purple crosses, to be worn about the shoulders, was presented to Archbishop Spellman of New York; Bishop Joseph Schrembs of Cleveland, and the archbishop of Montreal, Canada.

Proxies who received the pallium for Archbishop Spellman and Bishop Schrembs were Monsignors Aristodemo Polci and Joseph Hurley.

The pallium may be worn only by the pope except with his express permission. It is a symbol that the wearers share pastoral power with the pope.

1,200 Hear Tenth Presentation Of Famous 'Messiah'

A capcity crowd of about 1,200 persons last night attended the 10th annual presentation in Mansfield of Handel's famous "Messiah" at the First Presbyterian church.

The oratorio was presented by a 100-voice chorus, made up of singers and choir directors from churches in Mansfield and nearby towns, under the direction of Mrs. Claude F. Ewing, choir director at the Central Methodist church.

Solo parts were sung by Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine, Jane Weuthrich, Helen Dickson, Mrs. C. O. Anglin, Elmer Bletz and Herman Clingan, and organists were Mrs. A. L. Twitchell, of the Presbyterian church, and Miss Elizabeth Burneson of the Central Methodist church.

The invocation and benediction were given by Rev. R. L. Foulke, pastor of the Central Methodist church, and Rev. David N. Roller, pastor of the Presbyterian church, gave the offertory prayer. The "Messiah" was sponsored by the Central Methodist church choir.

LAST CHANCE TO GET WAR BONUS

Application Deadline Jan. 2, Gardner to Advise Veterans.

R. B. Gardner, state commander of the Ohio American Legion, received word today to notify all veterans who have never applied for their adjusted compensation (World war bonus) that the time limit expires Jan. 2, 1940.

Gardner said it is estimated that there are 100,000 veterans in America who have never applied for their adjusted compensation, and unless some future congress re-opens the subject and extends the time, they can never apply after Jan. 2.

The application may be made directly to K. C. Baxter, chief of the Control and Adjusted Compensation Division, Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C., Gardner said, or through the Red Cross, but the applications must be received in Washington before Jan. 2.

JURY GOES TO SCENE OF CRASH

Starts Hearing of $10,000 Damage Suit; Visiting Judge Presides.

Called into session this morning to hear a $10,000 personal damage suit, the county petit jurors were taken by bus to Lexington avenue and Edgewood road, scene of the traffic accident that resulted in the suit, before hearing evidence in the case.

Judge Richard R. Cameron of Marysville will replace Judge C. H. Huston on the bench during trial of the case, at the request of counsel for the plaintiff, B. W. Eddy of Chesterland, O.

Eddy asks the damage judgment in behalf of his wife who was injured in an accident on Lexington avenue in November, 1938. Defendants in the suit are Harold Geitgey of Elyria and Frank Kuentz of Cleveland, drivers of cars which figured in the three-car accident.

Attorneys for Eddy are Weldon and Houston, Williams, Williams and Reynolds. Attys. Long, Anderson and Green of Shelby and George H. Blecker of Mansfield are the defense counsel.

ILL 13 YEARS

Mrs. Amy Schultz, 68, Stricken at Home Near Galion.

GALION — Mrs. Amy Adeline Schultz, 68, residing 17 miles west of Galion, died Saturday at her home. She had been ill for 13 years, and bedfast four months.

She was born at West Salem, Ohio, Mar. 1, 1871, the daughter of Richard and Elizabeth (Smith) Berry.

Surviving besides the husband are four sisters and two brothers: Mrs. Charles Ferrall of Galion; R. C. Berry and Elmer Berry, both of Galion; Mrs. Ida Brightbill of Spencer, Ohio; Mrs. Laura Bailor and Mrs. John Wiley both of West Salem, Ohio. A brother, James C. Berry and a sister, Irene Berry preceded her in death.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Snyder funeral home. Rev. H. R. Merle, pastor of the First Lutheran church, will officiate. Burial will be made in Fairview cemetery.

Shelby Lutheran Church Arranges Yule Programs

SHELBY—A full schedule is planned for the organizations of First Lutheran church this week at the church. A number of meetings featuring Christmas programs have been planned for the women, men and young people of the church.

Mrs. D. B. Young will be hostess to the women of the church for a tea at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday for the Luther League on Tues- and sixth grade choir of the Shelby elementary schools will sing a Christmas program at the affair. The 51-voice choir is directed by Miss Alice Shoup, elementary schools music supervisor.

Other parties planned for the week include a Christmas party for the Luther League on Tuesday night and a dinner meeting for the Men's Brotherhood for Friday night. The league's party will be held at 7:30 p. m. in charge of Eugene Taber, party chairman. The men of the church will hold their dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. Friday with Arthur Love, class president, in charge of the arrangements.

MAY EXHUME BODY

FREMONT—(UP)—The body of Walter Snyder, 24, sugar beet worker, may be exhumed because of the mysterious circumstances of his death, Prosecutor A. L. Hyzer said today. Snyder's body was found last week in the Sandusky river.

WIN BRIDGE TOURNEY.

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Walter L. Jacobs and Albert Weiss, both of Chicago, won the open pair championship of the national contract bridge tournament early today with a total of 543 match points. It was Jacobs' second victory in this event.

EPWORTH LEAGUE MEETS

SHELBY—Edwin Dick was the devotional leader for the weekly meeting of the Epworth league Sunday night at First Methodist church. Preceding the worship service was a social hour program featuring ping pong and a poke lunch.

Mrs. Rosella Gretzinger Dies In Perrysville; Funeral to Be Held Tuesday.

PERRYSVILLE — Mrs. Rosella Jane Gretzinger, 93, one of Ashland county's oldest residents and a retired school teacher, died at her home yesterday afternoon after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Gretzinger was born Dec. 7, 1846, the daughter of Stewart and Catherine Workman, near Hayesville, and had spent her entire life in the county.

She is survived by three sons and two daughters, William, of Loudonville; Charles of Mansfield; Fred of Perrysville; Mrs. J. W. Kennedy, Mansfield, and Mrs. Ona Keethler, Columbus; and 14 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren.

She was a member of the Perrysville Presbyterian church. The body will remain at the home where friends may call until 9:30 a. m. Tuesday when it will be taken to the church and will lie in state for an hour. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a. m., with Rev. Lena Jennings, pastor of the church officiating. Burial will be made in the Perrysville cemetery.

GUNFIRE LEAVES SIX WOUNDED

Grudge Brought To Head By Killing Of Hog Starts Battle.

PINEVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—A long-standing grudge between two families, brought to a head by the killing of a hog, flared up in a ten-minute gun battle yesterday that left six men wounded.

With pistols and shotguns, Sheriff Martin Green said, two groups of men fired more than 25 shots at each other around the railroad depot at nearby Dorton Branch, a southeastern Kentucky coal mining town.

The Sheriff said he jailed without charges three of the wounded. The grudge between the Williams and Helton families, Green said, arose from a lawsuit over a house.

LOSES FINGERS

LOUDONVILLE — Hugh Ferguson, 32, employed at the Flxible company here, suffered the loss of all the fingers on his right hand Friday. Dr. G. B. Fuller gave first aid and he was then taken to Mansfield General hospital. He came here from McConnelsville a short time ago.

NAMES 13 ORGANIZATIONS AS 'TRANSMISSION BELTS' FOR REDS

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The Dies committee charged today that 13 consumer's organizations were being used by the Communist Party as "transmisison belts" to spread its aims among the middle class and to "discredit . . . the economic structure of free enterprise."

J. B. Matthews, director of research for the committee, reported that the Communist Party was "utilizing consumers' protests to overthrow the capitalist system and put in its place a Soviet system."

He accused the agriculture department of giving "frequent and favorable" publicity to one of the alleged Communist-dominated organizations through the Consumers' Guide, published by the department's consumers' counsel.

Matthews, a self-proclaimed former fellow-traveller of the Communist Party, was a witness before the committee last year.

The report blamed Communist propaganda among consumer organizations for what it described as "the current popular and official attack upon advertising." It cited "the recent action of a government official in the department of agriculture who undertook an investigation of national advertising in Good Housekeeping magazine."

Matthews did not name the agriculture department official, adding that while there was no record that the findings were "used as a basis for action against the magazine, it may be assumed that such was the intention."

There is a federal trade commission complaint pending against Good Housekeeping charging it with misrepresentation in advertising.

RECORD RUSH OF MAIL FORESEEN AT POST OFFICE

Homberger Cites 20 Per Cent Gain in Parcel Post as Sign of Trend.

A new record for the amount of Christmas mail handled and postal receipts this year at the Mansfield post office was predicted today by Postmaster Herman E. Homberger.

"Present indications are that this year's business will be greater than last year when the Mansfield office set a record for Christmas business," Homberger said.

A similar prediction for the whole nation was made by Postmaster General James A. Farley. The postmaster general said that post offices have been supplied with $,715,375,924 extra stamps to take care of the anticipated holiday demand.

A 20 per cent increase in incoming parcel post business over a normal day has already been noted at the Mansfield post office, according to Homberger. To handle this large volume of incoming parcels, four trucks have been put into service. These trucks will be supplemented by other trucks and additional clerks and mail carriers next week.

With Christmas still two weeks away, heavy mailing of outgoing parcels and cards is expected to begin at the Mansfield office next week. Extra clerks will be added to the present staff to handle the dispatching of this mail.

Postmaster Homberger also urged mailing as early as possible to assure delivery before Christmas day. To avoid standing in line for long periods of time for stamps, Homberger suggested that patrons buy stamps now and not to wait until the annual rush has started.

Mail deliveries on Christmas day will consist only of parcels post and special delivery letters and cards.

Lee Beveridge, postmaster at Butler, today also reported a marked increase in business over last year. In a telephone conversation with Homberger, Beveridge said business there was "way ahead of last year."

INJURIES FATAL

Mrs. Minnie Caris, Hurt Near Galion, Buried at Columbus.

GALION—Funeral services were held Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the Christian Missionary Alliance church, Columbus, for Mrs. Minnie Caris, 61, whose death was caused from injuries received in an automobile accident on the Winchester road near Galion.

The accident occurred on Nov. 18, near the Boyd farm on the Winchester road when a faulty steering gear caused the car to plunge into the ditch. Mrs. Caris suffered head injuries and her daughter, Gertrude, 37, suffered two fractured neck vertebrae. The daughter was dismissed from the Good Samaritan hospital, here, Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Caris died Friday at her home, 1315 Manchester avenue, Columbus.

$30,000 BLAZE

Basement Fire Spreads, Destroys Two-Story Building.

OBERLIN—(UP)—Firemen still poured water today on the smouldering ruins of a two-story frame building in the Oberlin business district where a fire caused $30,000 damage.

The fire was discovered last evening in the basement of the T. O. Murphy plumbing shop. It spread to the rooms occupied by the Oberlin pool hall and the Christian Science reading rooms on an upper floor.

Eight hours later Fire Chief O. G. Graham announced the fire was under control. The cause of the fire had not been determined.

WITHDRAWS IN PLANT ELECTION

CIO Union Won't Contest for Westinghouse Bargaining Rights, Says Beal.

Edwin Beal, Mansfield, CIO international representative, said today he had filed a notice with the National Labor Relations board of the desire of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, a CIO unit, to withdraw from a scheduled election to determine a collective bargaining agency for Mansfield Westinghouse employes.

The NLRB last week ordered an election to determine wether workers desire representation by the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers or the Westinghouse Employes' Association, Inc., an independent union. The election was requested by the independent union.

"It is our contention that the petitioning organization, the Westinghouse Employes' association, does not have a majority at the plant, and we regard their petition as an attempt to throw workers into a premature test of sentiment on the subject," Beal said.

"This question (selection of a bargaining agency) we regard as too important to gamble on," he added. "We did not ask for this election and do not intend to be drawn into it," he asserted.

Beal's request, filed with the NLRB at Washington, asks that the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers' name be withheld at the election, scheduled for late December at the Mansfield Westinghouse plant.

BOSTON DAILY GOES TO 5 CENTS

Transcript Cites Cost Increase; Saturday Edition Now 10 Cents.

BOSTON — The Boston Transcript, one of the older and more conservative newspapers in the New England states, has increased the price of its daily paper from three to five cents and its Saturday paper from five to ten cents. The Transcript does not publish a Sunday edition, but uses many so-called Sunday features in the Saturday publication.

Declaring that editorial improvements in the Transcript made during the past six months have increased publication costs to the extent of "a present deficit of about three cents a copy," the announcement said that the paper "refused to compromise with mediocrity."

The announcement also pointed out that the "customary price of many papers in the south and west, as well as in Canada, has been five cents for some years."

COUNTY ESCAPES ACCIDENT TOLL

None Injured Over Week-End in Richland, But Eleven Killed in Ohio.

For the first time in several weeks, Richland county escaped without a traffic injury over the week-end, authorities reported today. Eleven persons died in Ohio traffic, however, including seven pedestrians.

State highway patrolmen at Mansfield investigated three minor accidents, but no one was hurt in any of them, patrolmen said today.

Seven Mansfielders escaped injury Sunday night when cars driven by Harold Eccles, 37 West Fifth street, and A. J. Stima, R. D. 4, Mansfield, sideswiped in a narrow bridge on route 61 south of Shelby.

Riding with Eccles were his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Grant Wagner and two children, Washington avenue, Mansfield, patrolmen said.

Cars operated by Rex Tilton of Plymouth and William Daugherty, 16, of Shelby, collided on route 61 north of Crestline Saturday night when Tilton's car skidded on a curve, patrolmen reported.

A car and truck collided on route 13 four miles north of Mansfield Saturday, but occupants of both escaped injury.

Although 19 passengers on a Cleveland-bound Greyhound bus escaped unhurt when the bus and a truck carrying five tons of sewer pipe crashed five miles west of East Palestine Sunday afternoon, the smashup led to the death of Harley C. Reed, 48, Columbiana garage man.

Reed was struck and killed by a car driven by Russell P. Stern, 38, Salem, while supervising removal of the wrecked truck at 7:15 p. m.

LEAGUE CALLS ON RUSSIA TO MEDIATE WAR

Asks Moscow to Send Reply to Offer Within 24 Hours; Hears Finns' Appeal.

on the bombardments of Helsinki.

Red Stays in Hotel.

The Russian delegate, Jakob Surits remained in his hotel and received reports of proceedings through his assistants.

"This is the fatal hour," Hambro said when he took the chair from Count Carton De Wiart, Belgian president of the council.

"This assembly is a point of departure for a new hope. We face a very grave moment, and it is the duty of every league member to remain true to its ideals."

Referring to the Finnish appeal against Russia, Hambro added:

"One member of the league is threatened by another member of the league and is defending its right with heroism. The league of nations was created to keep the peace. We are therefore called upon to prevent what is now happening from proceeding."

As the trial shifted to the league assembly, most delegations already had signified their intention of voting for condemning Russia—or, at least, assenting by casting no ballot——and for resolving to ask member states to give the Finns all possible aid.

Argentina intends to demand Russia's expulsion immediately after Finland makes her charges and Norway has been active organizing a Scandinavian bloc in a campaign to obtain material aid for Finland as well as shut it off from Russia.

The decision whether Russia should be expelled from the league if found guilty of Finland's charge she is the aggressor in the undeclared Finnish-Russian war requires a unanimous vote of the council which the assembly will elect.

The Russians have indicated they will not be expelled from the league without doing something about it. What that might be made the British think anxiously of India and the Turks and Iranians of themselves.

Germans Keep Eyes On League Session.

BERLIN—(INS)—Nazi Germany today officially disclaimed authorship of the latest European peace move reported in Amsterdam but at the same time turned significant attention to the League of Naions assembly meeting in Geneva, where Soviet Russia is "on trial" for her invasion of Finland.

Germany is not a member of the league, and that body's recent activities have been scorned or ignored by the reich.

But for the present session, a veritable army of German newspaper correspondents is present in the Swiss city, a fact of considerable importance in itself.

In addition, authentic spokesmen declared that on this occasion, Germany is "closely watching" the league session and will undoubtedly take careful note of any activity by neutral nations "which is outspokenly unneufral."

On the face of it, this declaration means that the reich will be displeased if any of the league delegates, meeting on the soil of a neutral country, make any move that might be construed as hostile.

Yet on the other hand, informed quarters declared from the first moment the Amsterdam reports were heard that a new "peace offensive" to be pressed through Premier Mussolini of Italy "would not be impossible."

U. S. Agrees To Aid Finns Financially.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The United States added material support to its moral aid of the Finnish cause today by agreeing to finance $10,000,000 of exports to Finland.

Credits in this amount are being made available to the Finnish-American Trading corporation by the Export-Import bank. The money will be used to ship agricultural and other vital supplies to Finland. None of the money may be expended for implements of war.

The corporation, set up by Hjalmar Procope, the Finnish minister to the United States, has a paid-in capital stock of $1,000,000 and the Bank of Finland or the Finnish government, stand back of its operations. Finnish officials conceded that one of the big problems will be the transporting of goods to Finland.

Soviet Russia has served notice that its warships are now blockading Finland. Although American ships still are free to travel to Finnish ports in the Arctic none are in that area at present and it is unlikely any will head for that direction.

BRITISH REVEAL MORE LOSSES

Warfare at Sea Results in Sinking of Minesweepar and Five More Ships.

front last night, on the eve of the third anniversary of his accession to the throne.

It was reported British troops had been on the front line several days, but news of the action was withheld until the return of the king.

The troop action diverted attention momentarily from the intense sea warfare, which sent two neutral ships to the bottom yesterday. The 398-ton Netherlands motorship Immingham was struck by a mine off the northern Holland coast, with the crew reported rescued; the 1,928-ton Swedish steamer Vinga sank after an explosion, and the crew was saved.

The 5,182-ton Belgian freighter Kabinda broke in half after going aground on Goodwin Sands, and the 758-ton British steamer Fire King was reported damaged in a collision with a British freighter in the Irish sea.

(Discovery of three lifeboats from the 7,834-ton German East Africa liner Ussukuma drifting in the Atlantic off the Argentine coast caused shipping circles to believe the crew might have scuttled the ship. A Reuters, British news agency, report from Capetown, South Africa, Dec. 6 said the vessel had been captured and the crew put aboard a British ship. The report said the Ussukuma was being brought to port by a British prize crew.)

Meanwhile, reliable sources said Britain had agreed to relax a ban on the sale of war supplies abroad in order to supply Finland with materials to resist the Russian invasion.

Obversers pointed out the Finns are in need of pursuit planes to combat Russian bombing attacks. British firms were reported Saturday to have agreed to supply the Finns with 60,000 gas masks.

Blockading Soviets Protest British Action.

MOSCOW—(AP)—Soviet Russia, herself blockading Finland, protested, today against Great Britain's attempt to strangle Germany by cutting off her exports.

Contending that Britain's action was "without precedent in history," the Soviet note as represented in a Moscow broadcast said Russia would reserve the right to demand compensation or losses.

On the military front, the Russian army reported troops had penetrated 35 miles into northern Finland to the town of Kuolajarvi. The advance on all fronts was reported from three to five miles.

The broadcast announcing the protest against the blockade said the government considered Britain's action as a "completely arbitrary act." The note was said to have been drawn up along the lines of the United States protest to Britain but was described as much stronger."

Unfavorable weather restricted reconnoitering activity of the air force in Finland.

Santa and the TALKING DOLL

by SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR: Eric the son of Lightning, has coaxed a special doll, Leezen, away from the toyshop with songs on his flute. Santa had been planning to take her to the King of Westphalia.

CHAPTER SEVEN
A Poor Girl.

OVER seven snow covered hills Eric, the son of Lightning, danced playing his flute and followed by Leezen. She didn't even know that she and Eric were running away from the Toyshop. She'd forgotten taht she was to go with Santa to the kingdom of Westphalia. She just smiled and stepped across the soft snow.

Eric knew Santa might be worried but he hoped he might find some brave deed to do that would please Santa. And he did. As he danced he spied an old crow on a pine tree and piped a trill. The crow flew to his shoulder. He spied a young white fox running through the woods. He piped a long, low note and the fox came up to him tame as a kitten. And all the while Leezen followed.

Then suddenly they heard screams through the trees. Eric's flute stopped. "Wait, listen!" he said to Leezen. "Oh, dear. Oh, dear,' they heard a girl sobbing.

Swift as a deer Eric sprang through the woods, holding Leezen by the hand until they came to a clearing where there stood a small cabin. The door was open. They tiptoed up to it and looked in. And there they saw a very unhappy sight.

UGLY, LITTLE MAN

By the door knelt a girl weeping into her long, white hands. Her black hair hung about her head and down to her waist Her blouse was badly torn, and she wore only rags wrapped about her feet for shoes.

Across the room in front of a fireplace six trolls were chuckling and running about excitedly. They're ugly, little men with long noses, big red ears, and arms that hang almost to the ground. They were breaking stools and tossing them into the fire. On the floor lay a table cloth and on this they were heaping all the food from a cupboard, ribbons from a chest of drawers and a few dishes.

They were gone like a flock of frightened birds.

They were gone like a flock of frightened birds.

"Please, it's all I have," whispered the girl through her hands without looking up.

"Ho, ho!" laughed one troll. "It's more than we have." And he kept on piling food onto the table cloth. But just then he looked up. He saw Eric and Leezen watching silently from the door. His broad grin faded. He looked white and frightened. He shouted, "Brothers, run, run for your lives!" The other five trolls looked up, and without a word they scrambled up a table and out a window. They were gone like a flock of birds frightened from their feeding ground.

'HOW WONDERFUL'

Sloyly the weeping girl looked up to see Eric and Leezen. "Oh," she whispered Then she saw the trolls were gone. "Oh, how wonderful." She leaped to her feet. "I would have starved if you had not come."

"But why?" said Eric

"I live here alone, and all that food I had stored up this summer. I couldn't get any more until the snow melted."

"Alone? Where are your parents, and brothers and sisters?"

"They're all dead," said the girl. "They went off one day when I was just a small girl to cut wood. And they never came back. So I stayed here. But recently the trolls have frightened me and I don't know where else to go."

Eric laughed and blew a note on his flute. The white fox came running. "Get onto this handsome fox," said Eric. "We will take you to Toyland and you can help Mrs. Santa make cookies. What is your name,"

"Elsa," said the girl.

"Well, Elsa, get on the fox and we'll be off," said Eric. So they all hurried back to Toyland. But just as they reached the top of the last hill the first pink streak of morning tinted the sky. Leezen stopped suddenly, stiffened and became only a motionless doll. It was dawn.

TOMORROW: Leezen goes to Westphalia.

News of the Finnish victory at Suomisalmi was received with joy in Helsinki as it was believed to presage a Finnish drive designed to envelop large Russian forces in that area.

Details were received today of the Soviet air attack upon the naval base at Hango. Twenty bombs were dropped and no damage was done, although one Russian plane was shot down.

As the threatened new offensive got under way, Finnish military sources estimated Russian losses on the Karelian front alone since the start of hostilities at 25,000 men.

as expected, relief will be restored to single and two-person cases as well as to those receiving reduced allowances for the last half of December, beginning Dec. 15.

"Orders will be mailed on that date to clients, and thereafter clients are to call for their orders, as usual.

The mayor's announcement came shortly after President Roosevelt had announced in Washington that he had approved expenditure of $1,248,991 for WPA projects to relieve the crisis here.

Bricker To Defend Stand In Radio Talk.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes will discuss the record of Gov. John W. Bricker on the radio tonight, Mrs. Mildred Jaster, Democratic national committeewoman, announced today. Ickes will speak at 8:30 over a mutual network, she said.

COLUMBUS, O.—(U.P.)— Governor Bricker disclosed plans today to present late this week a defense of Ohio's relief policies in New York City where much of the criticism against his handling of the relief problem originated.

The governor will leave on Thursday for New York and will speak there on Saturday evening before the Ohio Society. Although his address will deal with Ohio governmental problems generally emphasis will be placed on the relief situation.

It was indicated that Bricker will take advantage of the eastern appearance to reply further to criticism of his administration by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia with whom he engaged in a sharp controversy last week.

The governor's unexpected announcement that he would speak in New York was seen by some observers as an indication that he particularly wants to quell adverse comment regarding his administration that was given prominence in the eastern press.

CHURCHMAN DIES

Founder of Cleveland Catholic Parish Stricken After Relapse.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Msgr. Thomas Francis Mahon, 76, founder of St. Thomas Aquinas' Catholic parish and the second oldest priest in the Cleveland Catholic dioceses, died of a heart ailment last night in St. Vincent Charity hospital.

Msgr. Mahon was stricken six weeks ago but remained at the parish house under a physician's care and seemed to be on the road to recovery when he suffered a relapse last week and was taken to the hospital Wednesday.

EX-MANSFIELDER TAKEN BY DEATH

Mrs. John Thomas Stricken Sunday In Cleveland Home.

Mrs. John T. Thomas, 72, formerly of Mansfield, died at her home in Cleveland Sunday after a lingering illness.

Mrs. Thomas was a member of Ruth chapter, No. 17, of the Eastern Star of Mansfield and the Park Avenue Baptist church.

She is survived by her husband, former director of music at the Park Avenue Baptist church; four daughters, Mrs. Mordicai Humphreys, Youngstown, Mrs. Harry Black, Aliquippa, Pa., Mrs. Keziak Rice and Mrs. Sam Gambo, and a son, Glynn, all of Cleveland.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday in New Castle, Pa., with Rev. Hayes M. Braker, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church officiating.

Wittenberg college was suspended Dec. 1 for two years by the American Association of Universities because its salary schedule was too low. Dr. Tulloss offered to resign but the Wittenborg trustees refused to consider his resignation.

It was rumored today that Dr. James Grover McDonald, president of the Brooklyn Institute of Fine Arts and Sciences, who was interviewed by the Ohio State trustees three weeks ago, is no longer a candidate for the university presidency.

Dr. Wilson Compton of George Washington university, was reported to be favored by three trustees. Dr. Compton also has conferred with the trustees.

he "had in mind the irregularities in the following cases which were called to your attention: Chrysler, Consolidated Aircraft, Universal Pictures, Alpena Garment, Chicago Malleable, and General Electric (letters of protest against procedure by both pattern makers and machinists organizations.")

Madden then asked for specific details about the alleged irregularities.

To this, Leiserson replied on July 27:

"I have nothing to add to my memorandum of July 26 except to say that I agree with your statement at the conference Wednesday afternoon that the Universal Pictures Case 'smelled.'

"I think it is time we looked around for a secretary who understands the administrative duties of the job and sticks to them."

Toland then handed to reporters minutes of the NLRB's July 28, 1939 meeting in which Leiserson made a formal motion that Witt be relieved of his duties because the secretary's "manner of handling certain cases made it impossible for him to have confidence in Mr. Witt's ability to perform his duties impartially as between various parties who appear in cases before the board."

The copy of NLRB minutes did not disclose the disposition of Leiserson's motion.

TO THE EMPLOYED MAN WHO NEEDS A CASH LOAN

Read how you can borrow $20 to $500 privately and simply—Repay in monthly installments that fit your budget—Quick service

YOU, like most employed people, probably find that you must sometimes borrow to meet emergencies. If you need only a few dollars for a short time, you get a loan from a friend or relative.

But when you need $50, $100 or $200 you doubtless hesitate to ask others to advance money to you. That's when Household Finance can help you. For Household Finance has a special loan plan for employed men and women faced with urgent money problems.

No endorsers required

To borrow elsewhere often requires collateral. Or you may have to ask others to endorse your note—to act as guarantors in case you are unable to repay your loan. The Household plan saves you this embarrassment.

When you borrow at Household you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign your note. You need no stocks or bonds.

At Household you borrow on furniture, car, or your note. You get the money privately and promptly. You give no salary or wage assignment. And Household does not make credit inquiries of friends or relatives.

Repay monthly

You repay your loan in convenient monthly installments. Suppose you need $100. Twelve monthly installments of $9.46 each, for instance, will repay your loan in full. Or, if you wish smaller payments $4.46 per month for 30 months will repay a $100 loan.

Find the amount of cash you need in the first column of the loan table. Then read across, picking out the monthly payment which fits your budget. See how you may make very small payments if you wish. Or you may pay larger installments and pay up sooner. Note that a $100 loan repaid in four monthly installments, for instance, costs only $5.04.

One rate to everyone

Household has only one price—the same rate to all, whether new customers or former borrowers.

In case of sickness or unemployment Household shows the borrower every consideration. Last year Household foreclosed on only one chattel mortgage for each 10,000 loans—an action taken then only as protection against fraud.

Ask for information

Study the loan and payment table. Then phone or visit us for further information without obligation.

This table is based on prompt repayment. You may pay ahead of schedule if you wish. Advance payment reduces the cost of your loan proportionately since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments are calculated at Household's rates of 2% per month on loans up to $300 and 6% per year on balances above $300 up to $500. These rates are less than the maximum prescribed by the Small Loan Law. Ohio

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1939.

The "self-made man" seldom brags about it when his wife's around.

It's not unlikely that many more of those Russian soldiers in Finland would appreciate being captured.

This is the week for non-payment of the December installment of war debts—and, in any event, the "regrets" will be more understandable.

Mutual Interests Involved

WITH only a few minor differences as to financing city and county shares in the cost, it now appears that some way to assure elimination of the two dangerous West Fourth grade crossings should be worked out by city officials and county commissioners before the December 15 deadline.

As compared with the estimated total cost of the project, the amounts required directly from city and county funds are small, yet the benefits will accrue in large measure to Mansfield and vicinity.

As has been previously mentioned, it is essential to economical construction that these two projects be carried through at the same time, as one requires excavating and the other filling.

It is also worthy of note that plans for these improvements provide for 40-foot width of roadway, which looks well into the future of traffic needs on this much-traveled ocean-to-ocean highway.

Fair consideration of the proposal as it now stands leads to the conclusion that this is an opportunity that should not be passed up and that county and city officials should make every possible effort to reach agreement as to apportionment of costs.

Changing Trend In Italy

ONE of the surprising things in Europe recently is the demonstrativeness of the Italian people. They used to cheer only for the Duce, as an obligatory rite, and sometimes they would give half-hearted cheers for Germany or some other country as an ideological duty.

But lately the Italians are spontaneously cheering for free countries. They have gathered in public places in Rome and other cities shouting for Finland. When the Finnish minister appears on the street, there is a traffic jam in his honor. And the Italian public clearly shows its sympathy now with Britain, France and the smaller democracies. It has obviously no love for Nazi Germany, its recent ally, and is disposed to pick for its applause the freer states in the Balkans, and elsewhere, when they are threatened.

Mussolini, of course, is still in the saddle, and the people are able to do this because he permits it. But they are obviously expressing their sympathy with democracy, even while their own country remains under a dictatorship. The whole situation seems to indicate a trend in Italy toward association with the allied democracies.

Enlarged Home for Moose Lodge

DEDICATION ceremonies associated with completion and occupancy of their enlarged lodge home on North Walnut street provided a busy but happy week-end for Mansfield members of the Loyal Order of Moose and women of the auxiliary.

As a secret, fraternal organization founded in 1888 by Dr. J. H. Wilson in Louisville, Ky., the Moose lodge has long served a beneficial purpose to hundreds of thousands of members who have been notably loyal in their support of the fine humanitarian program that has been developed by this order.

Notable in Moose achievements is the Mooseheart establishment near Aurora, Ill., a large estate with many fine buildings, devoted to the care and education of children of deceased members; also the home maintained in Moosehaven, Fla., for aged members.

With a membership of more than a half million in the approximate 1,700 lodges in the United States, coupled with the interested activity of women in the auxiliaries, the Moose lodge had already performed valuable service, not only within its own membership but also as an inspiration to other benevolent community work.

The Mansfield lodge, founded in 1910, has made a worthy record of progress to present membership of 650 and to occupancy of its own home, now made more adequate and attractive by the extensive remodeling project that has just been completed.

There is need, in Mansfield and other communities, for many organizations made up of congenial persons inspired by a common purpose to provide fraternal benefits to themselves and to also make contribution to the welfare of humanity as a whole.

In this program of community betterment Mansfield lodge, No. 341, Loyal Order of Moose, is now in position to play an increasingly important part.

Police Duties In New Era

AN EVIDENCE of changing times, or at least changing social customs, is found in the work of city police departments. Formerly their main job was to guard property and life from criminals, says a municipal safety director.

Today, in many big cities, the police force not only gives much time to directing traffic, but also teaches adults how to drive safely and children how to cross streets. It is also concerned with statistical analysis of traffic problems and the application of scientific methods for their correction.

Another fine service of many a police force is its work with boys and girls to prevent delinquency and the development of future criminals. Few present-day youngsters fear policemen and are more likely to regard officers as their special friends.

Public Morale Important

WRITING to a national defense organization, Prime Minister Chamberlain said: "In this strangest of wars we must see that public morale is maintained. So he welcomes the "wartime luncheons" proposed, at which members of the government and other leading people will speak.

The idea seems to be a good deal like our own business men's luncheon clubs, often addressed by speakers on public events. That is a natural and friendly development. But the special interest that it has for outsiders lies in the curious situation revealed.

Apparently there has been so little going on, in "this strangest of wars," that people are getting bored and need something new to occupy their attention.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Republicans suspected President Roosevelt was the political engineer behind the statement by party followers that it would be a nice thing to hold next year's political conventions late in the year, possibly September.

The statement, made by unquoted party figures who had called on the president at his Georgia "White House," had all the earmarks of a shrewd political move to make the Republican national committee show its hand on the matter of the date of the national convention.

We went up to Republican headquarters to look into the business and were told that a majority of the national committee would like to have the G. O. P. convention of 1940 after the Democratic convention. The idea of the majority members was that despite the long practice of Republicans boldly naming their ticket first, it would be a cheap sacrifice if they could scuttle the tradition and have the Democrats act first. Then at the Republican convention the Democratic platform could be answered and the Democratic candidate could be lambasted under the hot light of publicity that always focuses upon a national convention.

And now up come Democratic leaders, fresh from talks with President Roosevelt and blandly intimate that if it is going to be a waiting game to see who gets the last convention, the Democrats are willing to wait even to September, if necessary.

Democrats' Advantage.

SUCH an idea would be dynamite to Republicans. They can't wait that long to get under way. At Republican headquarters we asked questions about that. They frankly stated that all the advantage of late conventions would lie with the Democrats. They have a party organization much more closely knit and ready to go. That is always the case with the party in power. The party on the outside needs three or four months at least to get steam up after the convention. No headway can be made in a campaign before the candidate is known and the platform written.

You might just as well know also that Republicans smelled, or thought they smelled, something of a third term "feeler" in the proposal for conventions in September instead of in June, the customary month. They reasoned this way:

If the Democratic convention should be held in September it would be too late to heal any party split which Democrats fear and Republicans hope may emerge from the convention. Recognizing that situation, the Democrats would most likely choose Roosevelt for a third term as their best chance to win.

A second reason also was advanced. A real war in Europe likely will create public pressure for President Roosevelt to stay in office. Republican strategists recognize that factor. Since the war can't really get under way before next spring, the war alarm might not take real hold in this country until after the June convention period. On the other hand, by the time of a convention in September there would have been time for six months or more of real honest-to-goodness fighting. Accompanying that would be the demand for Roosevelt to stay in office.

Farley May Oppose It.

HOWEVER, it was suggested at Republican headquarters that other Democratic presidential possibilities will be wary of any third term advantages and do their best to fend them off. Postmaster General Farley, the Democratic national chairman, our Republican informant told us, likely will brook no experimentation with late convention dates. He has not expressed any views on third terms but as a practical politician he is not likely to fiddle with experiments.

Health And Diet

It's Tularemia Time Again.

—By DR. CLENDENING

NEARLY every year at this time we have put in warnings as to the proper prevention of the disease known as tularemia. Tularemia is also called "rabbit fever." Hunters and market men who skin rabbits, birds, etc., are particularly liable to it.

It is caused by a germ. The germ affects all forms of wild animal life, particularly rodents, rabbits and ground squirrels. It is called "deer fly fever" because deer are also affected. The germ is transmitted by flies. It gets into the circulating blood of animals; flies may suck it in from deer and transmit it to men.

It is the "First American Disease," the only disease that belongs exclusively to our continent, and so far as is known has never been discovered outside of North America. It was first described in 1907.

Has Three Forms.

It may occur in man in three forms. The usual form is an ulceration on the finger with some enlargements of the lymph nodes of the arm. It is not necessary to have a cut on the skin in order to acquire the disease. It has been proved that rubbing the blood of the animal containing the tularemia germ on the intact skin will produce an ulceration.

The second form occurs in the eye. It is easy enough to see how this contamination occurs. A hunter skinning an animal may have an irritation of the eye and rub it, transmitting some of the blood and gerbs to the conjunctival sac.

A third form is a generalized fever, like typhoid fever. Last spring I saw a most unusual form of the disease in a man who had acquired it by skinning a fish. This, so far as I know, is the only known case in which a fish was infected.

Treatment is not specific. All the patients get well, but there is no way to accelerate the process. To know the nature of the disease, however, is to be able to prevent it. Anyone who dresses rabbits for market should wear rubber gloves. The handling of quail, ducks, squirrels and other game requires the same precautions.

A serum has been developed which is given after the disease is acquired, hypodermically every day, two or three successive days, in the treatment and has not been This is quite a new development proved to be effective. The serum, however, causes no discomfort and is certainly worth trying.

No. 1 National Need—Some Hoss Sense!

("An American Business Man"—Columnist of the Day)

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HERE at last—and armed for bear—are those long-awaited "COLUMISTS FOR A DAY"! Folks with something to say and the punch to put it over . . . top-flight talk from Americans of every age and station. Give them a hand, neighbors—and bend an ear. Here's chow you can chew!

Heading the parade comes "An American Business Man." Yes, he has a real name and address. Pity he doesn't wish them published, for here's betting all the nickels in my pink pig bank that they'll be clipping his blast from Cape Cod to the Golden Gate before this night's an hour older. Listen!

Dear Miss Robinson—

There is one thing in this country I would surely like to discuss if I could be Columnist For a Day. And that is THE WAY WE ARE LETTING THESE ALIEN-BORN NAZIS AND FASCISTS MAKE MONKEYS OF US RIGHT IN OUR OWN FRONT YARD.

I am 63 and I have been around considerable but never have I seen anything as crazy as the way we permit these Ism camps and carryings on, while at the same time we're raising a hullabaloo about Communism, with the Dies committee investigating and exposing somebody every day.

I get so mad I can hardly talk when I think of these tramps and traitors overrunning this grand country of ours, parading down our streets, signing up our young people, and openly preaching things which are against every decent American standard. What's come over American manhood, anyway? Are we too cowardly or lazy or just too plain dumb to realize what's happening?

People say that we cannot put a stop to such things under our plan of government. Well, I am as loyal as any man living, but I say, if this is so, then we ought to start thinking on a new plan, darn quick. We seem to be able to get around our laws easy enough when we want to stop or start other things—Prohibition, for example—yet we sit here and watch these alien rats undermining our nation without raising a finger.

The men who made America in the first place didn't stop and haggle over technicalities when there was a job that needed doing. They rolled up their sleeves and did it . . . and looked it up in the law books afterwards. You never read any authority for that "Boston tea party", did you?

Everywhere people are whining and complaining about various national needs. Well, there is just one need that tops them all and if we could cure that we wouldn't have to worry about the others. I MEAN OUR NEED FOR A LITTLE OLD-FASHIONED "HOSS SENSE". WE'VE GOT SO MESSED UP WITH ALL THESE NOTIONS ABOUT TOLERANCE THAT WE DON'T KNOW WHETHER WE'RE GOING OR COMING.

All the whole affair amounts to, when you boil it down, is just this. Do or don't we want people and ideas like these in our country? If we don't want them, then don't let them get started. And kick out those who have. It's no wonder our young folks are all mixed up and have no respect for our opinions. We haven't any respect for them ourselves! We don't even know what they are!"

Hints on Etiquette

A reader asks where the dessert is placed on the dinner table. The dessert is served as a separate course, and is not brought in until the dishes of the main meal are removed. Then it is brought in in individual servings which are placed in front of each person. Or, if it is a cake or pudding, it may be brought in whole with plates or dishes suitable to serve it in, and served by the hostess in individual portions.

One-Minute Test Answers

Daily Bible Thought

My son, hear the instruction of thy father, and forsake not the law of thy mother.—Proverbs 1:8.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Nobody is supposed to know it, but there was drama off the harbor of Boston the other day when the Coast Guard was asked by the justice department to hold up three New England fishing trawlers being sold to France as mine-sweepers.

The vessels were wooden. Germany's new magnetic mines explode whenever a steel ship passes nearby, so wooden ships for use in sweeping them up are at a premium in Europe.

Attorney General Murphy telephoned personally, asking the Coast Guard to chase the trawlers and detain them if they were still in U. S. waters. However, either it was too late, or else the Coast Guard looked the other way, because the trawlers now are well on their way to France.

However, five other vessels purchased by France have been detained, and their transfer has been carefully scrutinized by an inter-departmental committee. One trawler is at New Orleans, two trawlers and a tug are at Boston, and one tug is at Charleston, S. C. All are old vessels, and the maritime commission found no American citizens interested in buying them.

Alabama Award.

REASON Attorney General Murphy acted with such speed was the existence of a criminal statute against transferring to any belligerent a vessel which is to be used as a warship. And these trawlers were to become mine-sweepers, i. e., warships.

The statute is based upon the Civil war case of the famous man-of-war "Alabama," built in English shipyards and turned over to the Confederacy to raid Union commerce. Afterward, the United States was awarded $15,500,000 for damage done to our shipping.

Therefore the justice department fears that if the trawlers are sold to France, they might damage Nazi vessels, and under international law, the United States could be held responsible.

However, the maritime commission and the state department take a contrary view. They believe that old wooden vessels could not easily damage German shipping, and that they are to be used to sweep up mines, not prey upon commerce.

One trouble is that the French line, which is purchasing the vessels, stated the facts with complete honesty. It listed the ships as mine-sweepers. If they had been listed as "fishing vessels," probably there would have been no hitch in the sale.

Note—The trawlers are 139 feet long and were owned by the Portland (Me.) Trawling company, a subsidiary of the Atlantic Coast Fishery company. They were built in 1919, are coal-burners and cannot compete with the new Diesel trawlers.

* * *

New Solicitor General.

IT'S a White House secret, but the one hitch in the elevation of Attorney General Murphy to the supreme court vacancy has been solved.

This was finding the right man to step into Bob Jackson's shoes as solicitor when he moved up to Murphy's place as attorney general. The president has found his man.

He is Judge Francis Biddle of the U. S. court of appeals of Philadelphia, chairman of the old National Labor Board and counsel of the 1937 TVA investigating committee of congress. In the long history of the federal judiciary, few appeals judges have stepped down from their $12,500 lifetime jobs to re-enter public life, particularly at a lower salary. The solicitor general gets $10,000 a year.

But Biddle, age 53, and one of the most brilliant court lawyers in the country, is willing. So he has accepted Roosevelt's offer to succeed Jackson. The three appointments will not be announced until congress meets in January.

Annenberg Trial.

SOME queer things seem to be happening in the famous Annenberg $5,000,000 income tax case—probably the biggest income tax case of all times.

Though the trial is just beginning, apparently there is going to be no trial. The battery of stenographers and law clerks on each side who were preparing the case are now looking for other jobs. E. Riley Campbell, treasury department specialist helping to handle the case, is headed for a vacation in the Ozarks. Weymouth Kirkland, crack Annenberg attorney, sits at ease in the courtroom while his assistants make minor motions.

Everything points to an arrangement whereby the big race track publisher will ease out of the picture with a minimum number of headaches.

One of the most significant developments is the fact that certain underworld characters, who hitherto have not talked regarding other phases of Chicago gambling, now are talking. Their conversation pertains to the operations of Billy Skidmore, king of the gambling fraternity and close ally of the Kelly-Nash machine. Skidmore already is indicted for income tax evasion, and it now looks as if word had been passed down the line that he was to be put on the altar to appease public opinion, instead of Moe Annenberg.

No Deal Murphy.

THESE developments have been a source of worry to the justice department. For if there is an arrangement to let Annenberg down easily, Frank Murphy doesn't know about it. Twice, Annenberg attorney Kirkland has come to Washington to suggest that the justice department join in a plea for clemency. But Murphy has declined. In fact, he has given instructions to his district attorney, William Campbell, to press the court for a jail sentence.

The justice department's attitude is that if Democratic Boss Pendergast in Kansas City got 15 months for an income tax evasion of $551,000, then Annenberg, the Pennsylvania Republican power, deserves a jail sentence for an evasion of $5,000,000.

All eyes are turned on Judge James H. Wilkerson, the man who gave Al Capone 11 years for an income tax evasion of $215,000. Judge Wilkerson is a Harding appointee, and the Railway Brotherhoods charged that he was placed upon the Chicago federal bench so the railroads might be sure of getting an injunction against striking railway shopmen in 1922.

Judge Wilkerson granted the injunction just after his appointment, and this fact defeated his confirmation as circuit court judge in 1932. President Hoover had given him this promotion, but the opposition of labor defeated him in the senate.

One thing which especially interests justice and treasury officials is the fact that Judge Wilkerson is trying the Annenberg case himself.

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

Go Splendid.

Go splendid, dressed as best you can.
Clothes do not make the man
And yet, clothes are important, go
Attired your best, you owe

This to yourself. Impresions first
Include your clothes; immersed
As thought is in the busy round
Of life, naught is profound.

And many a man of worth has been Refused his asking when
By bettering his appearance he
Would have known victory.

Clothes do not make the man, ah, no,
But see to it you go
Well-groomed and garbed as best you can—
Good clothes do aid a man.

One can't put a bushel of potatoes into a peck measure, but it is posible to get a peck of trouble out of a pint flask.

Frolic and Tragedy

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

DURING one of the last clear moonlit evenings, I was following along our winding stream. As it meanders back and forth it leaves clear pools sheltered by heavy banks of sandy loam. In some places, swamp grass and cattails grow, and just beyond the fence are standing shocks of corn. It was just the night for rabbits to frolic by appointment, or muskrats or skunks to be about the meadows.

I waited behind the old worm fence for almost an hour. Frost gathered thicker and thicker upon the rails and grass around me. My face and feet got cold, but still I waited a little longer. Then I heard a rustle among the crisp leaves, and a fine large rabbit ran and skipped between the cornshocks. Two more came presently, and then I counted five. I often had read about such nighttime antics, but I never fully knew how high they jumped in sport, or how rapidly they skipped about and tried to outdo each other, when they felt no enemy was near. Then I moved slightly, and instantly I heard two heavy thumps—a warning signal—and when I looked again those rabbits had all vanished into thin air. All was as still as night itself. Where they went so quickly I did never know, unless, perhaps they flew close to the ground, and their lack of motion was their means of concealment.

I reached for the upper, frosty rail and was ready to get up on my stiffened legs when I heard a chain rattle. I had heard that sound before—in connection with a trap. When it came again, I went cautiously toward the sound When I came near a large elm tree that grew along the bank, I surmised that the trap was fastened by its chain to the washed out roots. I was not mistaken. A large muskrat had caught his left hind leg in a trap's cruel jaws, and had mounted to a little shelf among the exposed roots.

The bright steel shone in the moonlight, and I could easily make out the outline of the frightened, struggling animal. The leg was caught just below the knee. At first he curled his head about and seemed to lick the wounded leg. For some time his whole body shook and writhed as though in agony. Then he moved his head away to rest. I saw blood on the trap and the skin torn from the bone. He moved his head again to the injured leg and this time I heard teeth gnaw against solid bone. Then a sudden movement and a graceful shadow disappeared beneath the water.

In the trap, when I held it up, was the severed leg of a muskrat, and there was a pool of blood on the shelf of roots.

Decorations, Fruits Give Party Touch to Roasted Meats

By RUTH CHAMBERS

When it's a question of style, the French have a certain something which wins the admiration of the rest of the world. While that's particularly true with regard to women's clothing, we pay tribute to French taste in other fields. For instance, there's a way of giving special style to a meat cut, and we call the process "Frenching" it. Whether that's because the French first thought of it, or just because it has a touch of style and is therefore "French," nobody seems to know and it really doesn't matter.

DINNER MENU
Fruit Cocktail
Frenched Loin of Pork
Cornflaked Pears
Creamed Cauliflower
Sweet Potatoes
Sliced Tomato Salad
Rolls
Vanilla Ice Cream Wafers
Coffee

When you want to give a roast leg of lamb, pork loin roast or lamb chops a decorative appearance, ask your retailer to "French" the bone ends and he'll know what you mean. Or you can do it yourself. In that connection, to "French" means to remove the meat from the ends of the bones. The object is to enable you to decorate these ends with paper frills, or fruit or vegetables.

"French" May Mean to Flatten

There is another meaning to the word French in connection with meat. It also means to flatten out pieces of boneless meat, for instance, pork tenderloin. The meat is cut fairly thick, then flattened with the side of the cleaver.

When you want to serve a roast or chops on some special occasion, don't overlook the touch of style you can give the meat dish by Frenching the bone ends, if it is a cut which contains bone ends. The frills may be of white or colored paper to suit your color scheme. They are easily made by folding plain bond paper into a cuff and slashing the edges. These pieces of paper originally served the practical purpose of providing a sort of handle for roast or chop, but a fork usually performs this task these days, and the frill is chiefly for "looks." Therefore you may substitute any other decoration you choose.

Use Frills or Fruit.

Both lamb chops and pork chops can be nicely dressed up in this way. Leg of lamb and baked ham gain in appearance by being Frenched and be-frilled. Loin of pork, with its little row of rib ends decorated, becomes very festive. But perhaps the finest looking of all are the crown roasts, fashioned either of rib section of pork or lamb. The Frenched rib ends point upwards and outwards, like the points of a crown.

Paper frills, carrot balls, spiced apples, parsley potato balls are among the possibilities as decoration for your crown.

To prevent the ends of the bones from charring, wrap pieces of salt pork about them or, if the crown roast does not contain dressing, turn it upside down, letting the bone ends form a rack. Frenched loin of pork should also be placed in the pan with the rib ends downward.

Frenched Loin of Pork.

Have pork loin Frenched at the market. Also, have backbone loosened so that carving will be easy. Season roast with salt and pepper and place fat side up, bone ends down, in an open roasting pan. Insert the roast-meat thermometer so that the bulb reaches the center of largest part. Do not cover and do not add water. Put in a moderately slow oven (300°-350° F.) until well done, as this brings out the rich delicious flavor. Pork is well done when the roast-meat thermometer registers 185° F. Allow thirty minutes per pound for roasting pork loin. Decorate with paper frills.

Deviled Lamb Chops.

Have lamb chops cut 1 inch thick. Have the rib ends Frenched. Beat 2 egg yolks slightly, add to 3 tablespoons melted butter; season with 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, cayenne pepper and 2 teaspoons vinegar. Brush chops with this mixture and place on a rack in a pre-heated boiler. By the time the chops are browned on one side, they will be half done. Season with salt and pepper, turn and broil on second side.

Frenched Pork Chops with Cinnamon Apples.

Pork chops, cut thick
1 clove garlic
Salt and pepper
1 cup sugar
½ cup water
½ cup red cinnamon candies
4 apples

Have the pork chops Frenched Rub the skillet with a cut clove of garlic. Season the chops with salt and pepper and brown on both sides in hot skillet. Add 1 or 2 tablespoons water, cover closely and let cook very slowly for forty-five minutes. To serve, slip paper frills over the ends of the rib bones and arrange on a platter with glazed cinnamon apples. Make gravy from the liquid in the pan.

To prepare the apples, make a syrup of sugar, red cinnamon candies and water. Cook the apples slowly in the syrup until they are a bright red and tender but not soft. Arrange on the platter with the chops.

'Cocktail' For Children

Here's a frothy pink cocktail that the children can enjoy during the holiday's while their elders are sipping egg nog It's a smooth blend of sweet cream, canned unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice and raspberry syrup shaken to a froth with cracked ice. Its appeal isn't limited to youngsters only, however, so have on hand the makings for extra servings for the grown-ups as well.

Pink Pineapple Juice Nog.

1 cup canned unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice.
¼ cup raspberry syrup
¼ cup cream
¼ cup cracked ice

Place all ingredients in a shaker, shake well and serve immediately.

Yield: 4 servings.

Informally Speaking...

Monday, Dec. 11.

Lucy, dear:

How are you these days? Busy with the rush of Christmas shopping, I presume. I do believe everyone is too busy shopping to have time for anything else now—that is, if I can judge from the scarcity of news today.

* * * * *

Marianne

I'm sure you remember Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burgener (she was Lucille Brown) and Paul Bragg, Lucy... . . . Both Mr. Burgener and Mr. Bragg are members of Harl Smith's orchestra—Smith being a former Shelby resident. . . . The orchestra has been playing at a hotel in Omaha, Neb. this fall, but is leaving on Wednesday for Sun Valley, Idaho to play at the lodge there for the rest of the winter season. . . . So the Burgeners and Mr. Bragg will be wintering at Sun Valley, the lucky people.

Speaking of the Brown family, Lucille's younger sister, Frances, spent the week-end in Delaware, visiting on the Ohio Wesleyan campus. . . . Saturday evening she attended the formal Christmas dance of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity as a guest of Allen Newcomb—one of those southern gentlemen—coming from North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney L. Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Mansfield have just returned from a southern vacation. . . . They drove down the east coast and up the west coast of Florida, visiting points of interest in the state—coming home through Georgia and Tennessee. . . . They said it was interesting to note that although Atlanta is considered typical of the old South, the department stores there were as modern and northern as any in Cleveland or Chicago.

IF YOU'D gone into one of the local ice cream shops Saturday evening, you might have been surprised to hear the tinkling notes of a piano because there is no such instrument in the place. . . . But this music was being furnished by Vivian Miller—she'd been Christmas shopping for several of her younger friends, and was trying out the toy grand piano.

Probably the thing young Billy Russell prized most of all his possessions was a padlock and key. . . . Then one day not so long ago, a startling thing happened—it was while his mother, Mrs. Carl O. Russell, was entertaining a bridge club that she heard Billy calling to her—when she went to look into the trouble, Mrs. Russell found Billy locked to the bannister at the top of the stairs—the lock was fastened to his belt, the belt was around the bannister—and the key had accidentally fallen to the floor below—leaving Billy pretty much on the spot!

JUST received a radiogram from Havana, Cuba telling me that a lucky Mansfielder is vacationing there now. . . . Joseph Schultz flew down by clipper ship from Miami, Fla. for a short stay in the so-called "Paris of the Americas," and he will return to Florida by the regular Pan American plane.

Here's a little baby talk for you, Lucy—Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Nichols of Canton are the parents of a son, born at Mercy hospital there this morning. . . . Mrs. Nichols, you'll recall, was the former Dorothy Davey of this city—She and her husband have named their son James after her father.

MARION GRUDIER will arrive in the city Saturday to spend the Christmas holiday season with her mother, Mrs. Helen Grudier. . . . Marion, you know, is an instructor of English at Syracuse university in Syracuse, N. Y.

I'll be looking for a newsy letter from you real soon now, Lucy, so don't get too busy with your Christmas shopping.

Lovingly,

Marianne

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Younger Set Has Birthday Celebration

Last Weeks Before Holiday Jammed With Social Activity

TWO weeks remain before Christmas, and between buying, wrapping and mailing presents, arranging centerpieces and putting the ornaments on the tree Mansfield women are going to be busy attending social functions of a great variety. From reading Sunday's edition you are already familiar with events this week, but there is something every minute for the remainder of the month.

Sorority girls will be busy next Monday night as both the Delta Theta Tau chapters have planned social meetings, and members of Beta Sigma Phi will have a progressive dinner party which will start at the home of the Misses Jane and Dorothy Bacon on Glenwood boulevard.

The annual guest meeting of the Mansfield Music Study club will be an event of the same evening when the MacDowell club of Wooster gives a program at the Mansfield-Leland hotel at 8 p. m. Presentation of a play at the Central Methodist church will be the feature of the Teachers-Wives club program Dec. 20.

The members of the Red Cross Production Unit No. 1 will have a dinner and party for their husbands on Dec. 21, and the Joan of Arc Study club will enjoy a holiday affair with Miss Mary Rizzo and Mrs. A. E. Weakland at the Susie Janis home.

Friday, Dec. 22 will be marked by a Christmas party at the Women's club when members of the Art Study club meet. Mrs. Herman Homberger, Mrs. Andrew Theiss and Mrs. George Cairns will serve on the committee.

Saturday will be free from organizational parties, and meetings reserved exclusively, we suppose, for those last minute affairs that all of us forget. And Dec. 24—well, that's the day before Christmas.

IN FLORIDA.

Mr. and Mrs. John Boyce, and their son, Arthur Boyce, north of Mansfield, are spending a two weeks' vacation in Florida.

PROGRAM TOMORROW.

The annual winter program of the Singers' club will be given tomorrow night at the Mansfield Senior high school auditorium. Gertrude Metcalf will be the guest artist, and a program of familiar classical and semi-classical numbers will be presented.

Teachers Plan Series Of Monthly Recitals

Margaret B. Hall and Thurza Hazeltine, who recently opened a piano and voice studio, are planning a series of monthly studio recitals to be given by their pupils. The first in the series was a week-end event featuring piano and vocal music.

Those taking part were Marilyn Gernhardt, Willamine Hoffman, Ada Mae Harbaugh, Louise Walker, Billy McQuillan, Pauline Hockenschmidt, Gladys Kerr, Teddy Wendt, Elaine Marlowe, Joan Porter, Barbara Shrewsberry Harriett Johnson, and David Weimer. Miss Alfaretta Bowden and Mrs. Hazeltine were the accompanists.

Double Holidays To Be Marked By Four Weddings

With two double holidays in the near future to look forward to Mansfielders are also looking ahead to a great deal of entertainment and social activity. Many winter marriages are holiday events too, and several nuptial events destined to stir up interest here have been announced.

Christmas eve has been selected by two couples. Miss Elinore Louise Longsdorf and Harold J. Oswalt will exchange the nuptial vows before the altar of the First Christian church at 8 p. m. Newark will be the scene of the marriage of Miss Betty Smith and Leo S. Maring, Mansfield, on the same date.

Miss Jeane Cramer has already told her friends that she and Donald E. Howe will be married in the First Methodist church at 2 o'clock Dec. 30. The very first marriage of the new year will be that of Miss Sarabell Kramer and John H. Van Wagner, Shelby. Miss Kramer and Mr. Van Wagner will be married in an open church ceremony at 7:45 p. m. at the altar of the First Presbyterian church with Rev. David N. Roller officiating.

RECENT MARRIAGES TOLD IN MANSFIELD

MONDAY is always a pleasant day because as a rule there are a number of marriages to be announced. Today we have word of the marriage at the Immaculate Conception church in Columbus of a Worthington girl and a former Mansfield man on Nov. 30. Before an altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and pompons Miss Alberta Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jackson, became the bride of Stefan Schemine. Mr. Schemine is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Schemine, 332 Harker street.

The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Fabian, pastor of the parish, while the mass was celebrated by the Rev. Fr. Hoffer of the Josephenum Seminary at Worthington, a close friend of the bridegroom.

The former Miss Jackson wore an ice-blue satin gown with modified bustle and fingertip lingth tulle veil. Her bouquet was of Braircliffe roses and pompons. With this costume she wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Schemine, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom, attended the couple. Mrs. Schemine was attired in a dusty rose taffeta gown and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

The newly-weds re now honeymooning in Florida. They will return to Ohio early in March and make their home in Worthington where Mr. Schemine is golf professional at the York Temple Country club. A wedding breakfast was served to friends and relatives immediately following the morning ceremony.

Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Miss Mary Alice Bookwalter and Richard A. DeLong were married at the bride's home. Rev. J. C. Searle of the Shelby United Brethren church read the quiet ceremony in the presence of the immediate families. Miss Bookwalter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl L. Bookwalter, Park avenue west road.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. DeLong of Shelby are the parents of the bridegroom. Upon their return from a brief motor trip the couple will be at home on Fourth street in Shelby.
